WORLD OBSERVES ARMISTICE DAY

NEW YORK GIVES GREAT WELCOME TO RUTH ELDER

Woman Flier Cooly Remarks That She Is Planning New Ocean Hop

Large Crowd Cheers First Woman To Attempt Flight Over Atlantic

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Ruth Elder came home today, to receive a great reception with the cool remark that she had already started planning to attempt her trans-Atlantic flight again.

"If nobody beats me to it," she said, as the great welcoming crowd cheered. "I'll be flying out over the Atlantic again."

Great Crowds

Miss Elder was given a tremendous welcome. Great crowds—almost as big as those that waited for Lindbergh—were at the Battery when she was landed by the city welcome boat, the Macom, which had gone up the harbor to meet the Aquitania. She was cheered vociferously on all sides and responsed to the applause with smiles and waves of her hand. There was a terrific din and shrieking of steamer whistles as she was brought up the harbor, and the ovation was interspersed by the roars of the crowd of the Battery when she landed.

It was 10 minutes after she was taken aboard the Macom that her young husband, Lyle Womack, had a chance to greet her. She was murrounded by reporters and cameramen. Finally she was permitted to go to the pilot's house, where Womack was waiting.

"Hello, kid, how are you?" he said as he embraced and kissed her.

"I never felt better in my life," she said, flashing a dazzling smile.

To Keep On Flying.

Reporters, meanwhile, were besieging Miss Elder with questions. She seemed a little tired but she met the barrage bravely and answered the questions as fast as they were fired at her by some forty reporters.

"I want to keep on flying," she declared emphatically in response to a question.

"Will you do so if your husband objects, and if he wants you to return to Panama and keep house for him?" she was asked.

"I'm sorry," was her reply, "but I'm going to keep on flying."

At this juncture someone asked: "Would you wash dishes for your husband?"

"I have washed dishes for him," she shot back.

She said she had no plans for the winter; that she had not definitely made up her mind just what she would do.

"I have made no motion picture

It was a brilliant affair, brilliantly conceived and brilliantly carried out under the capable direction of Mrs. C. S. Royce. Perfectly appointed, the banquet was said to be one of the most successful ever to be held under the auspices of the Lawrence Chapter of the Daughters.

Mrs. Perry Toastmistress.

Mrs. S. W. Perry acted as toastmistress after the banquet was served and her scintillating remarks only served further to enliven what was quite a lively gathering.

The first speaker on the program and speaking for the Sons of the American Revolution, was Charles H. Young, who commended the Daughters on the perfect banquet which they had prepared.

"The Daughters certainly know how to do things," he went on. "They know

Widow Of Late War Time President Attends Memorial Dedication Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—As a fitting tribute to the wartime President, Woodrow Wilson, this city featured its Armistice Day ceremony with the dedication of a memorial tablet to the late President, with his widow in attendance.

Mrs. Wilson arrived early in the day and was met by a committee headed by Maj. E. Lowry Humes, chairman of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Committee of Allegheny county and Mrs. Frederick P. Moore, President of the State Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Preceding the dedication, thousands of World War veterans in uniform paraded through the business district headed by the wartime chef executive's widow in an automobile.

Rain fell early, threatening to mar the ceremony, but before noon the skies cleared.

Tenth Milestone From Armistice Reached Today

Former British Premier David Lloyd George Makes Statement

By DAVID LLOYD GEORGE
Written for International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The tenth milestone from the armistice, which brought to an end the most gigantic and destructive ever waged on this earth, is a convenient spot on which to pause in the journey and look back on the havoc, the progress made in repairing it and the steps taken to prevent its repetition.

The extent of the restoration already effected proves the resourcefulness of mankind—the tardiness displayed in adopting measures to avert a similar catistrophe proves the stubbornness of mankind.

Two Tombs Are Visited Today At Washington

MANY MAKE VISIT TO WILSON'S TOMB

Memorial Services Are Held At Cathedral For Late War President

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Two tombs which more and more are becoming American shrines as the years of peace roll onward, furnished the focal points today for the capital's observance of Armistice Day.

One, on a little sunlit Virginia knoll, holds the unknown soldier. The other, hid away in the somewhat gloomy grandeur of the Cathedral atop Mt. St. Albans, is the resting place of Woodrow Wilson. It was around these today that pilgrims gathered and gave thanks for the stilling of the guns nine years ago.

Visits Soldier's Tomb

President Coolidge inaugurated the capital's commemoration of the day. Promptly at 10 o'clock, accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge and the secretaries of war and navy, he motored across the Potomac and there deposited a wreath on the flat marble canopy that covers the unknown. By nightfall the unknown will be sleeping beneath a mountain of wreaths, deposited by reverential hands.

The car was a Willys Knight coach belonging to George Shaffer, corner of North and Quest streets. It was in one of the stalls rented by the Gunton Motor Company, when taken by the thieves.

It was reported to the police that a car and safe were located about 150 feet from the Neshannock Narrows road near the paper mill bridge. Chief Dysart, Captain J. Ed. Elder and Officer Hillers went to the place in a police car. The place is rather overgrown but the car was plainly visible from the road.

Tiger Of France Has No Armistice Day Message

By ALICE LANGELIER

Copyright, 1928, By International News Service, Inc.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—"Armistice Day? Ah, for me the war and the Armistice are over."

Thus spoke Georges Clemenceau, the 87-year-old "Tiger of France" who held the premiership and guided French destinities during the darkest days of the war.

The "Tiger," despite his years and the heavy cares of state he has borne upon his shoulders, is still vigorous and the eyes beneath his shaggy brows burn with intensity when he touches a subject near his heart.

But it was evident today that he was more anxious to get back to his literary labors than he was to deliver any message to an admiring world upon the meaning of Armistice Day.

"You know, I suppose, that I am writing my memoirs," said M. Clemenceau. "But they will not be published until I am gone. Maybe I will talk about Armistice Day in them. You will have to wait and see. It may be a long wait; maybe it won't be so long. Who knows?"

Doran Calls Upon Undercover Agents To Halt Smuggling

Prohibition Administer Calls Conference To Plan Rigid Campaign

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Launching his campaign for a concerted attack upon smugglers and other large violators of the federal prohibition laws, Dr. J. M. Doran, federal prohibition administrator, today called a conference here for Monday of the chiefs of the undercover prohibition agents in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, and Jacksonville, Fla.

Simultaneously, Doran announced that he will personally direct the undercover activities of the department in future, assuming the duties of W. H. Robinson, former chief special investigator, who recently resigned. No successor will be appointed to Robinson, Doran said.

At the conference Monday, plans for a sustained drive to continue throughout the winter against smugglers, and wholesale violators in the larger centers of population will be outlined.

New Administration Will Fill Many Of City Offices In '28

Office holders in city hall will await the coming of March 1, 1928, with considerable anxiety, inasmuch as a majority of persons appointed to positions by members of city council, of which the mayor is president, take office on that date.

As there are more than a score terms to expire in 1928, members of council will no doubt be besieged by present incumbents to retain their positions, while persons who seek a position in city hall will wage a campaign to be employed by the city.

Among the offices in city hall are some that pay good salaries and salaries not so good. However, the employment is steady and there is no question but that there will be several candidates for all positions on the roster of city hall.

Under Civil Service

Members of the fire, police and sanitary police departments are in civil service and cannot be removed except for cause, and this can then only be accomplished through formal charges, hearing and final action by city council.

The chiefs of the fire and police departments are in civil service. Recently an act of assembly put the members of the sanitary police department in civil service, but the other employes of the city are not within the province of civil service.

So far members of council who will serve with William H. Gillespie when he becomes mayor January 2 have not made any public statements in regard to appointments, although the "rumor factory" is reported operating at full strength.

Positions To Be Filled

A check of city hall positions shows the council must re-elect or name new persons to the following positions March 1, 1928, for two-year terms:

Health department: health officer, city nurse and clerk to the health officer.

Garbage department, included in

Armistice Day Quietly Observed

No Formal Observance Of Day In New Castle Or County

DELEGATION GOES TO WOODLAWN, PA.

Nine years of peace are being celebrated today in the United States. Just nine years ago this morning the Armistice between the Allied Powers and the Central Powers was signed and the hostilities which had been raging since 1914 ended.

Here in New Castle, no formal celebration is being held as many of the ex-service men are in Woodlawn, Pa., attending the tri-county celebration sponsored by the Woodlawn Post of the American Legion. The Pennsylvania railroad band went down and the delegation of ex-service men was headed by District Deputy Commander Pat J. Dempsey. The guest of honor at the celebration is Major-General Charles H. Muir, former commander of the 28th division.

The Armistice Day celebration of 1928 will be held in New Castle with delegations from the three counties in attendance. At 11 o'clock this morning the whistles of the city blew marking the hour of the signing of the Armistice. Flags are displayed from windows and on the streets and many places of business are closed.

Many Nations Pay Homage To World War Dead

Ninth Anniversary Of Close Of World War Draws Nations Together

UNKNOWN WARRIORS' TOMBS ARE VISITED

America And Other Nations Have Ceremony At Tombs Of Unknown Soldiers

(International News Service)

A bond of devotion to the memory of allied war dead drew nearly the whole world together in common homage today—the ninth anniversary of the armistice that ended hostilities in the great war.

At Washington President Coolidge went to Arlington cemetery and placed a wreath upon the tomb of the unknown soldier. Canadian soldiers took part in the Washington observances.

In New York

In New York there was a one-minute tribute at 11 o'clock, when all business activities of the city were suspended. Soldiers, sailors, civilians and delegations from patriotic organizations participated in a memorial service at the Eternal Light in Madison Square.

In London, Paris, Rome and Brussels wreaths were placed upon the monuments of the unknown warriors, amid impressive ceremonies. Standing with veterans, who had fought in the war, the highest officers of the various governments paid tribute to the memory of the dead.

At Compiegne, France, a great memorial shelter erected above a replica of the railway car in which the armistice was signed, was dedicated. This car, standing on the spot where the historic document was signed.

Former Sheriff Of Greene County Dies Of Wounds

Reaching For Apple With Butt End Of Shotgun Costs Former Officer His Life

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 11.—Reaching for an apple with the wrong end of a shotgun cost the life of Former Sheriff Dan W. Phillips, 48, of Greene county.

Phillips died today in the Waynesburg hospital from a wound in the abdomen suffered yesterday while on a hunting trip south of here. George Peterson, his companion, rolled an apple toward him at lunch, but it was out of reach. Phillips, seated, sought to retrieve the fruit with the butt of his gun, when the trigger caught and the weapon was discharged.

Arthur Mometer

Nine years seems like a long, long time, or it seems just a month or two, for it isn't so long since the Armistice, and the roar of the battle was through. It doesn't seem long since those O. D. days when a fellow's home was in camp, and the day was spent on a sandy field, and the order was tramp, tramp, tramp. It isn't long since those days in France and that furlough in gay Paree, yet it's nine years gone, we recall today when the weather is fifty three. Nine long years, or just nine short years, since the rattle of rifle and gun, then the Armistice and the sun shone out and the smoke of battle was done. Then the troop ship home and the gay parades, and the lassie you left behind, but with all of that, when he stops to think, a fellow can't help but mind, of the buddies who stayed where the poppies grew, of the comrades who journeyed west, for them the end of the war and life, for them the eternal rest.

Football Parade Plans Complete

Procession Preceding Football Game Saturday To Start At One O'clock

Plans have been completed for the big "football parade" to be staged over the downtown streets on Saturday afternoon, November 12, prior to the start of the New Castle-Erie East grid battle. The parade will move promptly at 1 o'clock, according to present plans.

The parade will be one of the first of its kind ever attempted here. Attorney George W. Muse will act as marshal of the entourage.

The line forms on the city diamond, said the committee today, and will be open for all who care to participate. First in line will be a New Castle police escort, members of the Boy Scouts, the senior and junior high bands in full uniform, the old timers in machines, the Erie East high football squad of 30 in machines.

Several huge signs have been painted for the occasion and will help make the parade a colorful affair.

The line of march is up East Washington street to Allen street, over Allen to DuShane street and up DuShane street to the Ben Franklin high stadium.

The "New Castle Day" boosters are quite enthusiastic over the outlook for the big game here tomorrow afternoon, and if the weather man will only favor the occasion with a "break" and give us some fair weather football attendance records will be shattered here on Saturday, said a member of the booster committee today.

Quite an elaborate program has been arranged by the committee for the stadium field, and indications are that there will be something doing every minute. The big game kickoff is at 2:30 o'clock.

Tomorrow is the day on which the citizens of New Castle, grid fans and others pay tribute to the New Castle high football team. If you are not in your seat by 2 o'clock you may miss some of the fun.

It is likely that several hundred fans from Erie will help swell the attendance tomorrow.

Stolen Football Materials Are All Returned

Adrian College has its football equipment back and the honor of New Wilmington has been restored.

Two weeks ago the Adrian team stopped in New Wilmington for a while and while there somebody helped themselves to nine football suits, five footballs and some other material.

County Detective Fleming got on the job immediately, and locating some suspects, let it be known they were due for a long ride. Thursday evening while Andy McDonald and a class were in the gym, the lights went out in the lobby. When they were put back on the stolen material was there in a pile.

The work was done by some boys who live outside the village and it is yet possible that arrests may be made.

FORMER KAISER HOPES TO RETURN

The former kaiser has not been well and those who have seen him recently say that his once soldierly form is bent with age and worry. It is said that his illness has been mental, to some extent, as well as physical. However, he is in better health at present.

William ponders a great deal over the past, especially over the collapse of his throne and his enforced exile. He is reported to have said to a visitor in a confidential chat:

"I shall return. Of course I shall return. Germany is like a fatherless child without me."

But he quickly added: "I am happy here. I plan only for peace. It is quiet here and I am recovering from an illness."

SAFE STOLEN AT GUNTON COMPANY FOUND IN CITY

interested in recovering, were found scattered about the place. The officers spent some time picking them up. The safe was finally placed in the stolen Shaffer car and everything brought to the police station. Representatives of the Gunton Motor Company went over the papers this morning and found everything there. They were given immediate possession of them.

The safe had been opened by forcing off the door at the hinge side. The money was gone. According to Mr. Shaffer, he had taken the car out for a few minutes after 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night. When he got the machine, the dome light in it was burning. He thought this strange and when he went home, he asked his wife, if she had left it on. She said she had not. It is believed that the robbers were already in the place, when he secured the car and when he returned it about eleven o'clock. One suspect was brought into the police station last night, but was released when he gave a perfect alibi.

Not New Castle Safe.

Officers Logan and Lynch were in Youngstown making some investigations concerning the previous safe robbery at the Lawrence Confectionery store on last Monday morning, when the information was received through the P. & O. that hunters had discovered at the Robinson switch, this side of Lowellville, a safe believed to be the one taken at this place.

On their way home from Youngstown, they stopped at that place and finally located the safe down over a steep hill from the road and in a swamp. With the assistance of Constable Graham of that district and several others, they managed to get the safe up to the road and into the police machine and brought it into the city.

It was found that it was not the safe stolen from the Lawrence Confectionery store, but another one, probably taken from some place in Youngstown, Ohio, where there have been a number of safe robberies lately. The reason that it is believed to be from Youngstown, is the fact that the officers found with it a record book of gasoline sales, which has the name Youngstown written in the records. There is no name of the station at which it may have been located.

The Youngstown authorities have been advised and now checking up to determine if possible, the ownership of this safe.

Chicken Stealing Is Being Probed By City Police

When Officers Horner, Samuels and Thomas arrived at the place of Charley Jim, 107 East Long avenue, in answer to a call to the effect that 19 chickens had been stolen from his coop they found and arrested Joe Yochym as a suspect as he had a sack and a chisel in his possession. Later they arrested John Holesky as a suspect in the same case.

The men denied stealing the chickens which had been killed right in the coop, when brought before the mayor today and they were released pending a further investigation.

Yochym claimed that Holesky had promised to get him some rabbits and that was the reason he had the bag.

"Would you like to go in the movies?" she was asked.

"I don't think I have any movie ability," she replied.

"How about the stage?"

"I don't know that I could act," she said modestly.

Miss Elder smiled derisively as she denied a published story that she had crawled out in the wings of the plane while she was flying the ocean. "Impossible," was her comment. "I didn't crawl out on the plane until after we came down in the water beside the tanker."

Ruth looked as if she had stepped out of a fashion magazine. As the Macom drew alongside the Aquitania, a smiling, pretty face was silhouetted against an open porthole. She wore the latest from Paris—a broadcloth black ensemble trimmed at the neck and bottom with kit fox fur, a black turban, suede long gloves buttoned far up the wrist, black shoes and fawn-colored stocks. Her cheeks were tinted pinker with excitement than the cluster of orchids she wore. Haldeman appeared at the next porthole. They both shouted greetings and waved madly at their relatives and friends aboard the Macom. It was a picture fit for a movie—and the camera boys ground until their arms ached.

"If Miss Elder wants to try it again I'll be tickled to death to go with her," declared Haldeman.

"I have a new plane in mind," said Ruth. "A duplicate of the American Girl."

Reports persisted in asking questions as to the domestic relationship between the aviatrix and her husband.

"There are no differences between Lyle and me," she finally said.

"Did he approve of your flight?"

"He didn't disapprove," Ruth replied.

"Will you go back to Panama with him?"

German Flag Flies Today Over German Embassy

By COLE E. MORGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — The black, red and gold flag of the German Republic flew at full staff today above the German embassy here. Like wise the flags of the kingdom of Hungary and the Republic of Austria were unfurled above the legations of those governments.

In this silent manner these former enemy nations took official cognizance of Armistice Day in the capital of the country whose force of arms and of wealth thrown into the conflict on the side of the Allies brought to an end the great world conflagration nine years ago.

It was their way of proclaiming that they accept the observance of Armistice Day in America as a day of sorrowful remembrance of the dead of all nations and of Thanksgiving for the peace of the world, and not as a day of gloating celebration for victory over a crushed and beaten foe.

And because America has so consecrated this anniversary, Washington is the only capital in the world where the flags of these former enemy nations are permitted by their governments to be raised today above their diplomatic missions. It is a special tribute accorded to the United States in recognition and appreciation of the spirit of friendship and helpfulness that has marked the course of America and Americans in dealing with their former enemies since peace was proclaimed.

King Benjamin Reported Dying

Heart Crushed By Ruling Against Him May Prove Fatal To Aged "Cult" Leader

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11. —Crushed by the decision of Circuit Judge Louis H. The interview with the colony physician was cut short by frantic calls from Purnell's attendants and the doctor hastened to the bedside of the stricken leader of the colony who has wasted away from a 200 pound beaubrummel to a 130 pound "skin and bone invalid."

At the best Purnell, who is reported suffering from a complication of diseases, cannot live more than three months, Dr. Sowers said.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION MEET AT BANQUET EVENT

that the best way to reach the heart of a man is through his stomach.

"It is strange, but the Sons never meet except once a year. I believe that they should do something more serious than merely attend a banquet and call that enough.

"In the first place they are a priviliged class; privileged because their ancestors did something that they think is worth while. But there is no real merit in being a Son or a Daughter except if we uphold the things that our ancestors stood for. We should serve the country and not only serve the country but make it better than it is now.

"Again may I thank the Daughters for the splendid banquet and I hope that we may have the pleasure to return the compliment."

Miss Morgan Speaks.

That she congratulated the committee in bringing about the banquet which unified the Sons and the Daughters was the sentiment expressed by Miss Jennie Morgan, the next speaker on the program

"But I am glad," she declared, "that the committee waited until our own splendid hotel was completed before they gave it."

Briefly she gave the history of the Lawrence chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and told that when it was started a quarter of a century ago it had but 18 members, but since that time the membership has increased to 170.

"But it is not what our ancestors have done" she concluded. "Rather it is what we will do for the future generations. We should do even more than our ancestors did for us. We should inject into the community something that can be looked forward to and also looked back upon. We should make a firm city, a firm state and a firm nation."

"Views From One on the Outside" was the subject on which Fred L. Rentz delivered the final address of the evening.

"My first impressions of the organization," averred Mr. Rentz, "came through reading the papers in which were printed some of the squabblings which the Daughters had when they convened annually at Washington and I never thought that I should ever be called upon to address the body.

"As I understand it, the ancestors of the members of the organization made the world free for Democracy, and now the loyal descendants of the same ancestors might do their bit, and make it safe for Republicanism.

"But seriously, there is one thing that the combined organizations might do, and that is to eliminate the wet and dry issue in both national and local politics.

"And the organization can be a power for good in the community, for, as I see it, the society is for the general good of the community. There is not a person here who cannot think kindly for the other fellow. And one must stop to consider that he owes his neighbors a lot.

"But although we might repay the neighbors we never can repay the city in which we live. And that is our duty; to do all that we can in this respect.

"Again may I say that it is an honor and a pleasure to be here tonight and address such an assembled body of Lawrence county citizens."

After Mr. Rentz's address a rising vote of thanks was given to the committee who made the banquet possible.

A DAY OF PEACE

IT IS a glorious thing that mankind on this memorable anniversary can publish the tidings that universal peace prevails, and that between the nations good feeling has been established.

The feeling of Americans on Armistice Day is one of tenderness as they think of the fallen lads whose lives were given to the Stars and Stripes. The nation has prospered since Armistice Day, 1918, and it has been guided wisely in avoiding the quarrels that periodically threaten to renew hostilities in Europe. The graves of the fallen Americans should be decorated today, not only here but in France, and a thought should be given to the cause for which they fell. The placing of a wreath upon the Unknown Soldier's grave by the president will express the nation's feeling toward all of its sons, known and unknown, who sleep in honor.

America has kept the faith. It is a friend of all nations, and desires peace with all. It has helped to restore peace in Europe. Its example of government by the people is the sign post that points the way to peace. All peoples may govern themselves if they will. Whenever they take control of their own governments they hasten the day of universal peace. The American soldiers fought in Europe for the principle of government by the people. The United States has not deviated from that principle, and never will. It longs for the day when European peoples will grasp the vast benefits that follow the simple rule of government by the people.

SANE TAX COURSE

EVERY treasury surplus mobilizes two champs—those who favor reducing federal taxes to the full amount of the surplus and those who think it good public business to apportion the surplus between tax and debt reduction.

President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are consistent members of the second camp. From the first they have argued that the advantages of early debt reduction outweigh the blessings of tax reduction. In the other camp are a number of members of both houses of congress and some others who covet a seat either in congress or the white house.

The next congress must follow one of three procedures. It will reduce taxes to the full amount of the surplus or reduce the war debt to the full amount of the surplus or compromise by reducing both taxes and debt.

While every taxpayer feels that his federal taxes cannot be reduced too soon or too much, he knows it is wise tax policy to look into the future. Today's tax can be reduced by stopping payments on the war debt but debt reduction today means lower interest payments and lower taxes tomorrow.

Fairly plausible arguments have been advanced for reduction and even abolition of various taxes, but the general public is probably in accord with the opinion of the president and the secretary of the treasury that every dollar possible be applied to cutting the national debt and eliminating obvious tax inequalities. These should come before a general tax cut.

It is apparent that debt reduction will be impossible if congress allows all the pleas for tax reduction, of equal merit on their face, that have been pouring into its ears weeks before it goes into session. Let congress consider the interests of the nation, not of minority groups, when it takes up the tax question.

A man's wife has to hunt his things for him, but a bachelor knows his are on the floor.

The many persons who pray only as a last resort have the audacity to expect results.

No wife need be uneasy about a husband who forgets to shave when she is away from home.

EVERY GENERATION—

Has to learn its own lessons.
Has to help pay for its predecessors' wars.
Seems to be reluctant to learn from the mistakes of its fathers.
Has been the despair of its parents at some time.
Must be better than the preceding generation to be as good.
Has some good reason for pride and some good cause for humiliation.
Ultimately comes back to the recognition of a few great eternal truths.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:46. Sun rises tomorrow 6:44.

We can remember that when we kids went in swimming in the Big Run we used to think that if a turtle bit us while we were in the water it would not let go until it thundered. There are things just as foolish now that grown ups think.

Who remembers when the constable on the Butler road would run you in if you let out your little pacing horse over seven miles an hour.

One New Castle girl's Christmas wants are simple. All she wants is a wedding.

There are about four hundred thousand professional hobos in America who boast openly that the country owes them a living and that they will not work. Quite a few of them drop into New Castle during the winter. They are no doubt hardened criminals and no good. On the other hand there are also some honest unfortunates who really deserve help, but how are you going to tell the goats from the sheep and where are you going to get the money to pay for keeping such people.

"Henry has placed his heart in my keeping," said Miss Cutie Runabout of Snakes Rest. "Well, you had better be careful with it," replied her chum, Miss Voluptious Kissem of Atlantic avenue, "he told me last week that I had broken it."

WE NOTICED IT

Dear Hints and Dints: Why do you suppose the news was not sent to the out of town papers about the busting up of part of Washington street a few nights ago? It sure was as sensational many times over than the item of the poor fellow who shot at some hoodlums who broke every window in his home and struck his wife several times with rocks. That Washington street stuff would have made a fine extra for a newspaper, but you were charitable as usual to the alleged friends who do you dirt every time they get a chance to send the injurious stuff to New Castle to out of town newspapers. Many another man would have taken advantage of the opportunity to get even with the source of news to the out of town newspapers. And the local cops did not get a free paper that morning either. Old top, you are sure good to New Castle and the fellows who try to injure you and your property every time they get a chance.

It is pretty hard to think of the New England states as being subjected to dangerous floods, but the recent one in the Connecticut river valley draws attention that way. Unfortunately these unusual circumstances coming where unknown before and the least unsuspected makes a new problem of flood relief that cannot be provided for in advance. In the Mississippi valley, with the low banks and levees, a permanent program of relief can be adopted and worked out.

A Philadelphia man went to the poles and voted on election day and then shot himself. If all voters took their voting wrong that seriously we would have a great country here soon—and maybe some new industries.

HE IS JUST AWAY

I cannot say, and will not say
That he is dead. He is just away,
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming, how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return.
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There, as the love of Here.
Think of him still, as the same, I say:
He is not dead; he is just away.

The man who boasted that he let bootleggers in Detroit, and publicly stated that he wouldn't try to enforce this particular law, has been licked to a frazzle by a man who said little, but who is said to be dry. The vote in New York gave the city power to lease land for houses to be rented at reasonable prices, and also allowed the city to borrow $300,000,000 to build needed subways. This is along the line of human intelligence. The vote was a victory for Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker.

Life insurance is big and intelligent business. This country's policies amount now to ninety thousand millions of dollars. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company spends money for advertising information on health, a wise and public-spirited move. Health is the thing that makes life insurance profitable. Death means loss.

The 25 largest life insurance companies own nearly five billions of bonds. Those that, like the Metropolitan, specialize in good health advice, warn you to be careful of your teeth.

Teeth in the United States grind up more than 37 million dollars worth of food a day, and the good effects of food depend on the grinding.

Mr. Haley Fisk, Mr. Ecker and other wise men of the Metropolitan might consider the advisability of establishing scientific institutes of dentistry to look after their policy-holders' teeth at cost, plus a reasonable profit. The company that built excellent apartment houses to rent for $9 a room might also build dentist chairs to rent for $3 or $4 an hour.

The Reverend Dr. Straton of New York says doctors are unnecessary because "Those who are enlightened concerning God's healing powers have no need of doctors."

If the reverend doctor should develop a cancer, heaven forbid, or break a leg, he might discover that Providence leaves something for science and the doctors to do. Did the doctor ever hear of faith curing a broken leg in modern times?

Two aviators in the American Marine service were murdered in Nicaragua when their machine made a forced landing—killed by a crowd of 20 to 1, after desperate fighting.

That is the sort of thing that starts wars. The killing of one man, the Austrian heir apparent, was the spark that started the big war.

No war will start this time, because Nicaragua is too small. An elephant can't fight a chipmunk. And besides the government of Nicaragua had nothing to do with it.

President Coolidge is said to favor a repeal of United States inheritance taxes. Many will agree with the president. Why not tax a man while alive, able to earn and to fight, instead of waiting until he is dead and taxing his corpse or his widow and children?

In Day's News

The romance of an artist's long climb to success under adverse circumstances lies behind an exhibition of paintings which was opened in London recently and startled the critics and public. They were the work of Orlando Greenwood, a former Lancashire lad who began the struggle for existence under the handicap of dire poverty. At the age of 12 Mr. Greenwood was earning his living as a mill hand, going to work at six every morning. Till he was 21 he remained at the mill, spending every available moment of his time and every penny he could spare learning how to paint. When the war came he went to the front with the Royal Engineers and for the time being his art work was interrupted. With the close of the conflict he returned to London and started to study art seriously. Then his first exhibition was held in a London gallery. Nearly every picture sold in a few days.

ARMISTICE DAY

Ground arms!

This is the talk that is in the world current today.

They are working at it at the League of Nations and President Coolidge has been trying his best to get at a disarmament conference.

The Japanese statesman, Saito, recently said that the Japanese were very much in favor of disarmament and would try a conference again.

The Japanese are hardly to blame for their bellicosity, for they were never recognized as a first-class power by the civilized nations until they had gone out and licked Russia.

People are finding out very slowly that wars never did any good. Capitalists are realizing that war kills as many dollars as it does men, and in the mind of the world killing dollars seems to be more serious than killing men.

We love a contest, as evidenced by the late Dempsey-Tunney match, and we love the larger contests of war. There is something in them that stirs the blood.

In fact, as Henry James pointed out, some way must be discovered to transfer the excitements of a military life over the ordinary business of life.

For all you may say against militarism it seems to have the monopoly upon certain good qualities.

A man in the army devotes his life to his country, he is loyal and he is obedient and he is disciplined.

Somehow we must make the spirit of public service and loyalty and discipline rule in the business world. Only then can we expect our youth to take up a business career with the same enthusiasm that they go out to war.

It has been written that man shall not live by bread alone. He must have his enthusiasms. And life is certainly more colorful when there is a great contest going on than otherwise.

The business world is becoming more and more interesting and indeed it is from the predominance of the ideas of business that we may expect the abatement of war.

Can you imagine? The Pullman porters have declared that they are opposed to tipping! A pure academic statement.

The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters is a comparatively new organization, having been formed during the summer of 1925. Late in 1926 the Brotherhood, acting under the terms of the Railroad Labor Act of 1926, requested a conference with the Pullman Company for the purpose of discussing certain desired improvement in conditions. The request was denied. The Brotherhood has now taken its case before the United States Mediation Board. One of the demands of the Brotherhood is that the tipping practice be abolished. The Union points out that the minimum wages of porters is $72.50 per month. Overtime is received after 11,000 miles have been traveled, such pay raising the average monthly compensation received from the Pullman Company to $78.11. The Committee of the Brotherhood aver in their petition that, from a questionnaire answered by 673 regular and 104 extra porters, the tips average $58.15 a month. The Union is making a stand for a minimum rate of $150 a month and the abolition of the tipping system.

To pile Ossa on Pelion, the International Brothers of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, which embraces in its membership the hotel and cafe waiters of America, are asking also that the tipping system be abolished, and that their wages be increased.

The tipping system will never be abolished. The porters and the waiters may receive increased pay from their employers, but American citizens insist that it is not only their duty, but their pleasure, to tip, and whatever the porters and the waiters get by way of increased pay will be clear velvet for them. And I think they know it.

DRAMATIZED PROFANITY

When at the theater I sit
I like to hear nimble wit
Spring clever epigrams.
And I raise no objections, when
The conversation now and then
Is emphasized with "damns"
But when they sputter language vile
Upon the stage I do not smile.

When I set out to see a play
It does not please me much to pay
Three dollars for a seat
To have some actor with a leer
Spring blasphemy which I can hear
On any downtown street.
When barroom language I would reap,
I know where I can get it cheap.

I do not need the stage to teach
Me any filthiness of speech
Or prove this truth to me
That certain types of men blaspheme,
If that's the modern drama's theme
I think we'd all agree
That there are people everywhere
Who are proficient when they swear.

I am no prude, and out of doors
I care not what some drunkard roars
To vent his stupid rage;
From certain types which walk erect
A flood of language I expect,
But not upon the stage.
Of language coarse I hear enough.
Why should I pay to get the stuff?

FLYING STRAIGHT UP

From time to time we hear of various projects connected with the building of an airplane that will rise vertically from the ground and will descend vertically and at controlled speed from the air.

None of us, I suppose, has any doubt whatever that such a plane will be built. The only question involved concerns when it will be built.

Hundreds of inventors and engineers, the world around, are at work on this problem of the helicopter or hovering device. Several fairly successful machines have been launched, with great secrecy, and there is a widespread belief that the British army may even now have a helicopter that is almost at the practical stage.

The Curtiss company is now engaged in preliminary work on an airplane that is designed to rise vertically. This plane will have no motors for forward propulsion, but will merely climb and glide and climb and glide again. It will not make the distance across the continent so rapidly as the present type of plane but maybe it will be so much less liable to accident that there will be a demand for it, even though it pokes along at 60 to 70 miles an hour.

* * *

Of course somebody will have a plane soon that will rise and alight vertically, and also will go forward at high speed. While we await the appearance of this phenomenon, aviation is growing as no other transportation industry in the history of the world ever grew.

And here is a lesson for cities. The towns that get themselves adjusted to the new transportation first will have a tremendous advantage. If I were to name the features of a city containing the greatest promise for future commercial greatness, I would place a perfect airport first.

A perfect airport, of course, should be close to the heart of the city. It should be large, and it can't be too large. It should offer every facility for airplane servicing, and it should be perfectly lighted.

The perfect airport should have a mooring mast for airships. There are very few of these mooring masts in North America now, and the inland city that puts one on its airport before its neighbors get around to the consideration of such a project will have a publicity asset that will be worth more than 500 parades and 400 booklets isued by the chamber of commerce.

* * *

We're going to be flying straight up soon. Meantime, aviation will go ahead, and the wise city will adjust itself to flight. There are some excellent airports in this country now, but many more are needed. What American city, for instance, will be to the airplane industry what Detroit is to the automobile business? The lists are still open.

Mich. Court Makes New Divorce Ruling

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 11.—A supreme court ruling which may tend to exclude the naming of co-respondent in Michigan divorce cases has been received by Judge Vincent M. Brennan of Wayne county circuit court.

The ruling was handed down on an appeal from Justice Brennan's court and it upheld his disposition of the divorce case of Joseph Preklas against his wife Mary. Judge Brennan explained that the opinion, which tends to exclude all parties except a man and his wife in divorce affairs, may be interpreted as referring to co-respondents and co-defendants, either individuals or corporations. He explained that frequently third parties are named in connection with money matters pertaining to the settlement of the divorce case.

"The trial court correctly concluded that divorce suits are special statutory proceedings limited to litigating domestic relations between husbands and wives, to the exclusion of third parties who can only be brought in where it is alleged they have conspired with the defendant to transfer certain property," said the ruling.

The Wayne county judges will hold a meeting to discuss the effect of the ruling.

Vanderbilt In Reno Writings Is Too Tame

Young Millionaire Gets Nine Stories Back From Publishers In East

(International News Service)

RENO, Nev., Nov. 11—What with its three-months divorce law and its reputation of being a "flip burg" Reno is having a difficult time of establishing itself as a town of conservative habits, conservative inhabitants and conservative climate.

Authors attempting to portray Reno as they see it, when they see it as does Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., get nothing but the elevated eyebrow from Eastern publishers, and orders to "make their stuff snappier."

Or so it is claimed.

Anyhow, Vanderbilt is nursing nine of those little blue slips which inspire a sinking feeling in authors whose epidermis has never reached the proper thickness for such a hazardous profession.

Articles Rejected

The nine articles written by Vanderbilt and rejected by publishers were based upon his impressions since he established his residence here nearly three months ago. In them, he says he likes Reno, he likes the people who live there and dwells upon the lovely climate. In them, he also stresses the civic strivings of the town and the well-regulated lives of its residents, not the more spectacular events surrounding divorces and their sensational backgrounds.

For instance, who knows of the thriving art colony in Reno? A site has already been chosen for the purpose of building the first group of studios and a central art building. No less than thirty-eight artists are now in Reno, where they point out, subject matter and environment is not lacking.

Publishers Doubt It

And then with that charming naivete which is sometimes found in their ranks, they say; "And the colony for various reasons, will increase as time passes."

But publishers, it is alleged, will have none of this.

Reno, to them, is still the wild frontier town, with its activities enhanced by those who wish to kick over the matrimonial traces.

Some of the publishers it is claimed even go so far as to question Vanderbuilt's motives, advancing the opinion that he is trying to establish himself in the good will of Reno's citizens instead of portraying conditions as they actually exist.

What to do? asks Reno.

Greyhound Racing Revived For Paris Becoming Popular

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Every dog has his day at the races in France now. Greyhound racing has been revived and preparations are going on to make it a regular event. There was a recent trial at Chantilly and a large French crowd was extremely interested in seeing the hounds run in flat hurdle races. Not many of these spectators had seen the first greyhound races 20 years ago which caused a big scandal at Levallois. Snow fell during the race and the "crack" dog, white and yellow, slipped and fell. When he got up the crowd was amazed to find that the racer was no longer white, although he had fallen into the snow.

As a matter of fact, another hound had been painted up. Everybody got mad, threatened to break things up and demanded their money back. It was an exciting day at Levallois.

So far, the course has not been fitted with an electric hare and betting is not yet allowed, but a bill sanctioned by the minister of agriculture and instituting the pari-mutuel on dog races was passed last session by the chamber and is expected to pass the senate and become a law shortly. It is thought that before long there will be several tracks fitted with electric hares and betting booths and France will make a good showing among the countries with greyhound racing.

Girl's Assailant Given 20 Years

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 11.—Ralph Smith of near Belleville, was sentenced by Judge Walter E. McDougle in circuit court here to 20 years in the state penitentiary for criminal attack upon an 11-year-old girl.

Smith on trial denied having assaulted the girl, but admitted he had insulted her. He told of fleeing from officers and an armed mob the night of August 7. The jury recommended mercy.

Homer Swain, said to be Smith's cousin, Saturday will face a sentence of either death by hanging or life imprisonment for criminal assault upon a 5-year-old child.

U. S. Finance Experts Replaced In Persia By German Official

(International News Service)

TEHERAN, Nov. 11.—Dr. A. C. Millspaugh, administrator general of Persia's finance since November, 1923, who returned to Washington after refusing to renew his contract with the Persian government because his powers were to be reduced, will be succeeded by a financial and economic expert from Germany. The government has submitted a bill in the Mejliss to engage four foreigners in the ministry of finance.

The inspector general of Finance is also to be a German, while two Swiss financiers have been appointed as treasurer general and accountant general. The post of administrator general which Dr. Millspaugh held is to be abolished.

Twelve American financiers who constituted Dr. Millspaugh's staff and whose contracts run until the summer of 1928, are seeking annulments of the contracts, stating that since Dr. Millspaugh's departure the officer of administrator general has lost practically all its significance.

Airplane "Sky Hawks" Bother Chicken Farms

(International News Service)

BATAVIA, N. Y. Nov. 11—Havoc among poultry here has been wrought by airplanes using the landing field near their coops according to Batavia poultrymen who have complained to state police about the "sky-hawks."

Every time an airplane started or landed the fowls refused to leave shelter to eat their rations, the complaint stated. One of the owners said that unless the fliers stoped passing over his lands he would take the law into his own hands.

Troopers were unable to move in the matter and suggested that the chicken raisers adopt a campaign of education to teach their flocks that airplanes were harmless and not a particularly dangerous chicken hawk.

Schwab Sees Hope For Steel Industry

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 11. — Addressing steel company engineers of the Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo, Wheeling and Youngstown districts last night, Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, expressed opinion that steel business will show gradual improvement over the next few months. He said the industry has made great strides, in recent years, in installing mechanical processes for production, so as to reduce costs, and that the next steps in economy programs will be in direction of delivery and servicing of customers.

London Motor Show Nets $100,000,000 In Orders For Cars

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The 1927 British "Motor Show" held at Olympia, which has just finished, resulted in $100,000,000 worth of immediate orders, apart from future sales in 1927-1928, and will have the effect of providing work for at least another 86,000 workers.

After a slight depression, all sections of the British motor industry will be in full swing by February or March next, by which time many factories will have been enlarged to cope with the orders booked at the Motor Show.

The past five years have seen amazing changes in the British motor industry. In 1922, there were 194,000 men employed by it; today, despite the introduction of labor-saving machinery, the number verges on 280,000.

In 1922, it was estimated that the number of private cars in use was 380,000; by midsummer 1928 there will be 1,100,000 private users.

The era of prosperity which seems to be setting in for the industry can be measured by the fact that the majority of the manufacturers engaged have already contracted for the disposal of their entire output for 1928; the Riley company has done three times more business than it did at the Motor Show a year ago; the Morris company has had to enlarge greatly for its 1928 program; the Singer company will shortly be working to capacity in the biggest motor factory in England.

All of this, however, is largely preparatory to the selling season of 1928. During 1927 the number of cars in use increased by 200,000 and the number of people employed by 20,000 as compared with 1926. In 1928 both these figures will be vastly outdone.

Two young Englishmen have just started from London on a six thousand-mile stroll to India. They are twins and they took enough money only to pay their fares across the Channel. They are now hiking it across Europe, trusting to their literary talents to earn a living as they go.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FLYING HANDS

By, Baby Batting,
Mammy's going aknatting,"

Crooned Mrs. Flittermouse, over and over, and slowly waved her wing. Two bright eyes closed, the squeaky voice was silent. Baby Bat was sound asleep in his mother's wing, soothed to slumber by his mother's cradle song. Mrs. Flittermouse straightened up and gave a sigh of relief, as she flickered off a speck of dust from her little one's back.

"Now, while son is quiet is the time for me to get to work," said she. "If I am to do my share toward helping the garden grow I shall have to begin."

Peter was puzzled.

"What do you do to help the garden grow?" asked he.

"Eat up the insects that do their best to work harm to the vegetables and the trees. Midgets, gnats, moths, cockroaches. How the farmers hate them! But, stupid two-legs that they are, they don't give us Bats much credit for our help. Yet let me tell you, there are lots of crops that those farmers would never raise if it were not for us."

Mrs. Flittermouse was boasting. There wasn't any doubt about it, but Peter didn't pay much attention to her. He was staring hard at the two enormous wings she had stretched out just as far as they would go—staring as though he were just now seeing them for the first time.

"Why, what large wings you have!"

"HERE IN THE MOONLIGHT YOUR WINGS LOOK LIKE TWO GREAT HANDS" CRIED THE BOY

cried he. "And out here in the moonlight they look like two great hands." Mrs. Flittermouse gave her squeaky giggle.

That's exactly what they are—two huge hands," said she. "I have four fingers and a thumb, just the same as you have. See how the tip of my forefinger runs straight to the tip of my wing? That's where my wing is the strongest."

"And the skin on your wings looks like leather. Is it tough, Mrs. Flittermouse?" Peter was curious.

"Tough? I should say so!" replied his companion. "If it was tender like yours, two-legs, how do you suppose I could flap through the breeze without tearing it? My thumb is free, though—no skin fastened to that, and with that hookey claw on the end of it I can do a lot of things."

Mexico Pays Death Claim To Heirs Of Man Dead 15 Years

(International News Service)

WICHITA, Kansas, Nov. 11.—The government of Mexico has paid a debt to a citizen of the United States after it had been due for more that 15 years. Mrs. Mary Ann Turner Wichita, has received $4,000 as compensation for the death of her husband, Edward Turner who died while technically employed by the Mexican government as an engineer.

Turner an American went to Mexico in 1897 and became an engineer on the Mexico Central railroad. A wreck in 1899 in which the train was participated and which resulted in the death of the fireman of the other train and serious injury to members of both crews caused him to be arrested and placed in prison. Under the old Mexican law all parties to a fatal accident such as this were sentenced to life in prison. Turner was taken from his bed while badly injured by Mexican authorities and placed in jail .He died in the prison in 1910.

At the time of her husband's death Mrs. Turner was advised that she would receive compensation for the death but nothing was heard until she was recently notified of the government's action.

England Subsidizes 4 Aeroplane Clubs To Stimulate Flying

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—To increase public interest in flying and advance private ownership of aeroplanes, the British government has decided to grant $10,000 a year to four different aeroplane clubs in England.

The light aeroplane movement is rapidly gaining popularity among the social elect of Britain, and strange to say there are more young women members than men. It started about two years ago and when the government noticed how interested the public became in it, special arrangements were made to enable private ownership without a large output of money.

Thus the aeroplane club came into existence. Not only can a member of this club use it as a hangar for a privately owned machine but it is mainly for the use of co-operative ownership. Here anyone can pay the club so much money, in cash or on the installment plan, and be allowed the use of the plane at certain times. When enough persons have joined in the ownership of this one plane to pay its cost, then it passes out of the government's hands and belongs solely to the share-holders who arrange with themselves the use of it.

Since the movement started six clubs have sprung up with very successful results in the training of pilots and popularizing of flying generally. A membership of 1,500 is at present divided among these six clubs.

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18:—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

Chamberlain Says League Has Made War Much More Difficult

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Defending the League of Nations against recent criticisms regarding its failure to bring about any solution of world problems during its last session, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Britain's foreign minister and Europe's "dove of peace," admits that the league has not made war an impossibility, far from it, but emphatically states that it has made war already much more difficult.

"There is no nation today, be it a member of the league or not, which can conduct its foreign policy as if the league were not in existence.

"We have our ups and downs, we have our successes and our disappointments," declared Sir Austen "but you cannot judge the growth of a great institution by the events of today, or of yesterday, or of tomorrow. You must take a far wider vision.

"I say, however, be of good cheer; the league is justifying itself, and with the good will of the nations it will preserve the peace of the world."

Old Drake Oil Well To Get Attention

The subject of the permanent improvement of the Drake well, located in Venango county and not far from Titusville, is being urged by several influential citizens of that city and the matter has been brought before the Chamber of Commerce by them, says Jim Borland in the Franklin News-Herald. As it is now, the only road of access to it is unimproved and often in poor condition. The landmark is considered one of the most interesting in all the oil region of Pennsylvania, for it was there on August 25, 1859, that Col. Edwin Drake brought in the first oil well. Since the principal part of the road leading to the well lies in Venango county, approval of this county will be sought. The land upon which the Drake well is located is owned by the Canadohta Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. About 15 years ago they erected a native boulder on the site of the well, placing a memorial tablet on the stone. This monument is within a very few feet of the well, and nearby a steel flagpole, from which, during the summer, a pennant with the inscription, "The Drake Well," is unfurled to the breeze. As no caretaker is maintained at the site, vandals have desecrated both the monument and the bronze tablet, and the grounds have not been kept in the condition that they deserve. If it takes tangible form, Venango county should take pride in helping to bear the expense of the proposed improvement.

A commodious building has been acquired in Kansas City to serve as international headquarters of the Order of De Molay, which was founded in that city eight years ago and has since extended its membership throughout the United States and into several foreign countries.

Hawaii Health Officers Worry About Pilgrims

Hundreds Seek Sacred Stones Near Honolulu In Search Of Healing

Miraculous Cures Being Reported Of All Sorts Of Physical Ailments

(International News Service)

HONOLULU, Nov. 11.—Honolulu public health authorities are expressing worry as a result of great pilgrimages of lame, sick and worried folk to the so-called sacred stones at Wahiawa, some 20 miles out of Honolulu.

Last Sunday more than 1,200 pilgrims sought out the stone and made supplication for surcease from physical or mental ailments.

The stone, which is a small monolith, is on the outskirts of an old cemetery and, since the start of the pilgrimages, has been fenced in. The petitioners keep it perpetually garlanded with flowers and place offerings of food and money in receptacles before the stone.

The ailing rub handkerchiefs, hands, or leaves from nearby trees over the stone and then rub their bodies with the same object. Reports of miraculous cures are rife among the superstitious Hawaiians and the more credulous element of the Oriental races here.

Believe in Miracle

The belief in the miracle working powers of the stone is believed to be a hold-over from early days in Hawaii, when similar stones were the place of worship of Hawaiian women who made plea for the gift of fecundity.

The value of the stone as a healing agent is, however, doubted by medical officials here, who look upon it as an agency more capable of distributing communicable diseases than otherwise, and who are planning some means of stopping the general use of it in the manner described.

Several good tales have come out of the pilgrimages, which take place daily. One is of the Chinese who walked off with the offering of $50 in dimes and quarters which stood before the shrine. On his way back to town his flivver was wrecked and he escaped death by a close margin. He walked the 10 miles back to the stone to replace the coins and next morning brought his wife to the stone, with the explanation that he had no children but daughters and wanted a son.

Make Atonement

Two Hawaiian youths suffered a similar accident and walked back to the stone to make atonement for having scoffed at its powers.

The Japanese custodian of the stone, however, has no illusions about its efficacy as a healing agent. He showed up at a local physician's office the other day for treatment for a skin disease. When asked why he did not patronize the stone, he said: "Prenty no good. This kine no can do. Kauka (doctor) more better."

The money placed in the offering bowl is being collected by plantation authorities and turned over to the local charities.

Goat Loves Doe, But 'Tis In Vain

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 11.—The illicit love of a doe and a billy goat ended in the passing out of the goat, a victim of a jealous buck who would not see his rights encroached on by a mere goat.

For a year the buck deer and the billy goat have been companions on the preserve of C. A. Wagner at Guard, Md. Yesterday a two-year-old doe was taken to the preserve and released. The affection between the doe and goat was immediate.

Standing nearby the buck surveyed it all and when the goat moved to follow the doe the buck charged. The little billy made a valiant fight but he went down and out, and the victor immediately ventured forth to take his place in the affections of the doe.

That bit of femininity running true to nature, however, repulsed the big buck and spent some time nosing and fondling the ugly little dead billy who had fought desperately for her love.

Finally, however, the twain met, and "Billy" was forgotten.

The Church of England has a shortage of 12,000 clergymen at the present time, many parishes up to 12,000 people being without a curate to help the vicar or rector.

Mrs. M. F. Villano Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"Pimples broke out on my face and back. They were small at first, but later became larger and caused me to scratch. When I scratched them they would fester, and after a while would scale over. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back, and some nights I would lie awake scratching. My face was disfigured for a while.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped me so I purchased more, and after using one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment and a cake and a half of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Minetta F. IS A HEALTHIER STRONGER GIRL

Because She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible thru the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 113 Willow St., Silverton, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

Lonely Freshman In Canoe Sailing Boat At Reunion Island

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Parisians woke up one morning recently and read in their newspapers that their countryman, Alain Gerbault, who is making a tour of the world in a little sailing boat, had reached Reunion Island in perfect health.

After a reception by the governor who is keeping tab on the rebel, Abdel-Krim, the former member of the Racing Club de France took part in a game of lawn tennis and then proceeded on his lonely way.

His route is now in the direction of South Africa and he hopes to visit Durban and play with some of the big tennis men there.

Oblivious to the fact that a score of men and women were trying to fly across the Atlantic, that Levine was in Paris quarreling with his pilots, that France won the Davis Cup from America and that Hindenburgh was proclaiming the innocence of Germany, Gerbault sailed on alone far away from the noise of men.

Say Princess Astrid Will Be Ideal Mother; Had Ideal Training

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11.—There is no doubt but that the Duchesse de Brabant, the little Swedish Princess Astrid, who has just given birth to a daughter, will make an ideal mother.

Only three years ago she went through a thorough child nursing course in Stockholm and the matron says she was one of the most tender-hearted little foster-mothers they had about the place. She took her task very seriously and even wept if her favorite charge failed to put on weight as it should.

Not many little princesses worked the way she did, washing baby's clothes, cleaning their bottles and scrubbing floors, always in the most cheerful manner possible. She was a most punctual and dutiful little body in every way and it is certain she will carry out the same principles in the upbringing of her little Josephine Charlotte.

California Can't Pay Unusual War Debt

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 11—California has what is probably the most unusual war debt on record. It is a debt that can't be paid simply because the creditors are not known and seem to be reticent in the matter of disclosing themselves.

The war debt is in the form of two bonds, one for $3,500 and the other for $500, which were issued in 1857 and 1860 to help defray the expenses of California's Indian wars.

The bonds have been due and payable with interest for many years, but the holders have not presented them for payment. State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, believing that the documents may be buried in the dust of some forlorn attic or in the obscure corner of an ancient trunk, has suggested that descendants of California pioneers search among their family keepsakes in an effort to locate the bonds.

Californians Move To Abolish Rodeos

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 11.—A state wide movement aiming at the abolition of rodeos on the grounds that this type of outdoor entertainment is attended by utmost cruelty to horses and cattle has been launched in California.

The inaugurators of the movement are a group of women, styling themselves the California Anti-Rodeo association with headquarters in Berkeley. They claim to have the indirect indersement of their work of a large number of world notables including George Arliss the actor; David Starr Jordan the psycholigist and Rabbi Louis Newman of San Francisco.

Cleveland College Drops Courses In Foreign Languages

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11—Foreign language courses, the nightmare of the average college student, may become obsolete if other institutions of higher learning follow the example set by the Case School of Applied Science.

Case is an engineering college in this city and C. S. Howe, president, has announced that no courses in foreign languages will be offered on its curriculum in the future.

A number of graduates of the school were queried recently as to whether or not their instruction in French, Spanish and other foreign tongues had ever been of any use to them. In every instance but one the answer was negative.

"Our problem is to teach students the things which will help them to be efficient and successful engineers," President Howe declared. "That is why we made the change."

Courses in history, economics and the history of science have been substituted for those abandoned.

A silent woman is a lovely thing," sings a poet. Perhaps; but it is hard to make women think so.

Soviets Seek Footing For Sugar And Bread In Arabian Markets

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 11.—Although suffering from a sugar famine, Russia is nevertheless keen to bring "Soviet sugar and Bolshevist bread" into Arabia, where Great Britain with its hold on the Hedjaz, and Italy through its understanding with Yomen are rivaling for trade and political supremacy.

To gain a footing in the Arabian market, Soviet trade agents during the height of the recent pilgrimage season at Mecca and Medina sold sugar, bread and petrol at cut-throat prices. One of the results was that Indian sugar was practically kept out, the Russian price being less by three English pounds the ton.

Flour from India shared the same fate and agents are now busy offering Russian petroleum cheaper than anyone else.

Cobham Ready For New Flight To Antipodes

Famous Flier Planning To Be "Lindbergh" Among British Aviators

By J. K. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Considered to be the "Lindbergh" of British aviation and the most famous airman in the British Empire, Sir Alan Cobham, who startled the world with his flight to Australia and return, together with other long distance, European flights, is preparing for another daring 20,000 mile flight around Africa in which he hopes to bring about the inauguration of the British Air Route through Africa, and encourage the use of airlines as a means of protection for the dominions.

Using a Short All-Metal flying boat fitted with two Rolls-Royce Condor engines, the largest All-Metal airship in the world, and weighing, when fully loaded, more than ten tons, Sir Alan Cobham plans to commence his flight about the middle of November, and completely encircle Africa over a route never before used.

Famous Airman

Ranked among the foremost airmen in the world, Cobham is a pioneer of English aviation and has done more for flying propaganda than any other man in Great Britain. He came into prominence following the War when in 1919 he carried 10,000 people, while engaged in civil aviation. His first long-distance flight was in 1921 when he flew 5,000 miles around Europe. In this same year he opened the Spanish Air Line to Morocco, and since then has covered thousand of miles in his European and African flights. In 1926 he made his most spectacular flight from London to Melbourne, Australia, and return. A distance of 26,000 miles which he completed in 320 hours and for which he was Knighted by the King.

Many people have been puzzled as to why Cobham, with his experience, has never attempted to fly the Atlantic. Even Lindbergh cannot boast of a career similar to this.

His answer is that he does not believe in what he terms "stunt flying," and to him a non-stop trans-Atlantic flight is a "stunt," therefore he strongly disapproves of it.

"I think Lindbergh's flight was a wonderful feat and an unexpressable help to aviation, for it proved what things can be accomplished by the aeroplane. But these recent attempts are merely theatrical stunts and are done for the glory received. They are not helping aviation. Can anyone tell me what was learned from the flights of Nungesser and Coli, the Old Glory, the St. Raphael or the others which disappeared, leaving no trace behind?

Need Practical Aviation

"There is no doubt that there will be a trans-ocean service, and shortly too, but it will be in stages, for commercial aviation will not lose its value from the fact that one or two stops are made in a flight from New York to Paris."

The idea of atempting a trans-ocean flight has often occured to Sir Alan and he told me that while in America he had received a number of offers to attempt one but refused.

"I am not a stunt flier. I am working for the advancement of aviation. Everyone of my flights have been sane and for some definite purpose.

"What we want today is practical aviation planned out with a view to bringing about the safety of air travel. If there are any spectical flight to be done, they should be attempted by experienced aviators at heart."

Japanese Suffragette Wars On Aliens Who Favor Garb Of Orient

(International News Service)

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—Japan's leading suffragette, Mis Fusae Ishikawa, has gone on the warpath against all foreigners who urge Japanese women to continue wearing Japanese costumes because they are so picturesque.

"Do foreigners think Japanese women are curios?" she asks. "One would think so, to hear some of them talk."

Miss Ishikawa thinks that the lovely kimono is doomed because it is uncomfortable and expensive. She predicts that in ten years all Japanese women will wear western-style clothing.

The kimono is unsuited to office and factory work she says and Japanese women cannot keep up with the modern world until they wear modern dress.

Clemenceau Bargains In Carrot Market

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—In spite of his 66 years, Clemenceau is just as keen as ever on finding things out for himself. Recently he was noticed among some street markets, making trifling purchases to find out a little about the cost of living.

"These are too dear," he was heard to remark to a fat market-woman asking 60 centimes for some carrots. "I'll give you 50."

"All right, my little old man," she replied, "you may take them at that price because you make me think of the good old man Monsieur Clemenceau who I wish would come back and rule us again."

The "Tiger" smiled and walked away with his carrots.

Hundreds Attend Ben Franklin High Annual Carnival

Hall ways of the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school resembled midway at the fair or Barnum and Bailey's circus as thousands of students and friends of the school were inveigled to buy by many youthful promoters.

Six thousand tickets were disposed of early in the evening and it was cessary to use many of the tickets over again so that it is likely that over 10,000 tickets were sold before the carnival was over. At five cents a ticket it is likely that a large sum was realized for the athletic association and the library of the school. It will be some time before all the bills are in and it is known just how much was realized.

"The Follies" as depicted by youthful aspirants in the auditorium attracted large crowds, while the two shows in the library, "The Spotted Calf" and "The Wrong Mrs. Brown" had a steady stream of show goers.

Many of the parents of the children were especially interested in the life saving demonstrations in the swimming pool under the direction of Mr. Geasa and Miss Vera Rummel, the swimming teachers of the school. It is surprising how well so many of the children can swim and how level minded they were in giving a demonstration of saving of life from drowning.

Among the many booths and side shows the one entitled "Teachers' Pets" attracted many. Also the fish farm, the fortune telling booths and penny arcade had their crowd. Neither were the automat and the ice cream and hot dog stands deserted.

Very little preparation of booths was allowed yesterday until after school hours, but soon after the last bell, the place was like a bee hive and the hundreds of students and teachers joined in the erecting of booths and making final preparations for the annual affair.

Message On Power By Evangelist

"Endued With Power" was the subject of the Thursday evening discourse at the Dewey Avenue Free Methodist church from the text Luke 24-49.

The evangelist, R. W. Weston, said that there were two effects that accompanied this endowment. The extraordinary and the ordinary. In this day the former may, but does not necessarily follow the "baptism with the spirit." Such as the gift of languages, special discernment, gifts of healing.

Instruction on "Divine Healing" will be given at 6:45 Friday evening before the 7:30 evangelistic service.

SENNETT STREET PEOPLE PROTEST

Residents of Sennett street, West Side, are planning, it is said, to protest against what they term an excessive assessment made by the viewers in assessing the cost of the sanitary sewer constructed on that street. It is claimed that the assessment of $97.40 an opening is much higher than others in the same district. It is also claimed that the property owners were given but a short space of time as compared with other similar assessments in which to make payment.

Probe Death Of Man Alleged To Have Killed Self

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 11.—Developments in the investigation of the mysterious death of Jasper Mock, whose body was found in his home in DuPont, yesterday afternoon drilled by the charge from a shotgun, today indicated suicide, although authorities continued to hold the victim's aged father, Isiash Mock, and family friend, Frank Knecht, on suspicion of foul play.

Friends of the dead man reported that he had threatened to end his life because of domestic difficulties.

Authorities, however, were not satisfied with the angle dealing with the finding of the shotgun supposed to have been used in the shooting in the cellar, despite the fact that the victim was in the parlor.

Thursday night Fleming and his cohorts dropped in for a little call and picked up a quart and a half of moonshine and 52 quarts of beer. Garrie is sojourning with Sheriff Reynolds, lacking the necessary bail, and will come up in the December term of court following a preliminary hearing.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 11.—John McGucken, 39, father of two children, died today from injuries when he was crushed beneath a locomotive in Cambria Mills.

Tonight's the Night!

Just nine years ago tonight the gang now known as the American Legion was scattered from San Francisco to Fere en Tardenois. Nine years ago tonight they all celebrated, and how. Some of them went A. W. O. L. to Paris, some were on battlewagons out in the middle of the ocean and some of them were in the guardhouse.

They're going to celebrate tonight with an ARMISTICE NIGHT BALL in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. You're invited. Cornwell's Cavaliers will furnish the music and the dance will run from 9 to 1.

Tickets are on sale at the door, for two dollars and no tax.

Hanlon Continues Digest Of New State Motor Code

"The new code will place many in very peculiar positions, if they do not live up to the letter," says Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor club when discussing it. "And I have heard that the State Highway Department, along with the local officials in each city, will be even more watchful than they were before."

For the fenefit of the New Castle motorists Mr. Hanlon has furnished a further digest of the new motoring laws, which will be found below:

More Leeway In Suspensions

The Secretary of Highways is given more authority by the new code which goes into effect January 1, 1928, in the matters of suspending operators' licenses. If a bad check is given for a motor license, for example, the driver's license may be lifted. There are numerous additional grounds for suspension.

Drivers Under 16

The code provides that where the owner or operator of a motor vehicle permits a youth under 16 years of age to drive a motor vehicle, the owner is jointly responsible with the minor if an accident occurs. No person under 18 may operate a motor vehicle as a paid employe.

Brakes Must Be Good

It is provided that automobile brakes must be in good mechanical condition at all times. No part of the brake liable to failure shall be common to the two separate means of applying brakes required by law.

Must Have Rain Wipers

The use of rain wipers is made compulsory. These devices must be found on all cars after January 1, 1928.

Bathing Girls

It will be unlawful to place signs, posters, or any other non transparent materials on windshields or in windows of a motor vehicle. Even the transparencies, so called, used by motor organizations, are forbidden.

Vulgar Signs

Section 817 of the new code prohibits the operation of a motor vehicle bearing any obscene or vulgar signs or poster of any kind, and the Highway department is the sole judge of vulgarity or obscenity.

Take Off Excess Load

If it is found that a truck is carrying a load in excess of that provided for its particular class, designated officers then and there may direct the driver to remove the excess of the load before proceeding.

Light Testing Stations

The Highway Department is given authority to create official stations at which head lights may be tested, and at which certificates may be furnished showing that the owner has had his lights tested.

Police and fire vehicles have precedence over all others. The code provides that no motor vehicle may drive into or park in a block where fire apparatus has answered an alarm.

What Lights Mean

The code provides that automatic stop and go lights everywhere in Pennsylvania must mean the same thing.

Green indicates Go, and it permits traffic to proceed straight ahead, and all right and left turns, except in such places where these turns are not permitted. No movement of traffic is permitted on the amber or yellow light.

Light Devices

The department is given authority to refuse registration to any motor vehicle equipped with a lighting device not meeting with the department's specifications.

Operators Must Signal

The code contains provisions requiring the operator of a motor car to signal to the cars behind him his intentions of stopping or turning. If a mechanical device is used, it must be approved by the State Highway Department.

This is not clear, however, for it does not set forth what hand signals to use, so that the man in the following car still has three guesses as to what is on the mind of the man who signals.

Right Of Way

Except where traffic is controlled, or where through traffic highways have been created, the driver of a vehicle approaching an intersection from the right has the right of way. A driver traveling at an unlawful speed forfeits his right of way.

POSTPONE MEETING

Because of the carnival at the Ben Franklin Junior high school last evening, the meeting of the Ben Franklin Junior Hi-Y was postponed, and will occur next Thursday evening at 7:30.

Mr. Southerland, of the Ben Franklin faculty, wishes all former members of the club, as well as boys who wish to join to be present at the next meeting.

New Castle Students Work On Annual

Boy Scout News

NEW WILMINGTON TROOP.

Interesting instruction in the art of friction fire lighting was given to the local Boy Scout troop at this week's meeting. A merit system was also inaugurated so that both the individual scouts and the different patrols may be rewarded for proficiency in scout activities.

Another new member was added to the troop when Walter Sewall passed his tenderfoot test at this meeting. Jack Lewis, chairman of the troop committee was present to assist in giving some of the tests.

Senior members of the troop have under their care John Cox and they are training him in the tenderfoot tests so that the boy may soon be admitted into full membership in the troop.

Adolph Mensch recently raised six of his sons to the degree of Master Masons at the stated communication of Perfect Ashlar lodge, F. & A. M. of Brooklyn. A seventh son was already a member of the lodge.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—There is a vendor of second-hand umbrellas on Park Row. He looks like a soiled and shop-worn Santa Claus. If you will listen to him, he will tell you stories of his encounters with the Redskins in his youth. I don't know whether he really ever was an Indian fighter or whether he makes up his tales from remembering passages in the nickel novels of the 'Nineties. I suspect the latter; but at any rate he is one of the many lonely figures of metropolitan life, a man pathetically eager for an audience, hungry for a sympathetic ear into which he can pour tales of past adventures which, perhaps, he has never had.

* * *

It is related that the movie critics who attend the Thursday afternoon "pre-views" at Roxy's theatre have a hard time concentrating on the picture. It seems that the projecting room is ordinarily used as a dressing room by the chorus girls of Roxy's gang and that these young ladies just will change their clothes there, movie critics or no movie critics.

* * *

Then there was that young man who got arrested for sleeping in the subway—an event the New York newspapers treated at length. He worked as a day laborer for $35 a week and as a messenger on his day off. He wanted his people back home to think that he was making good in a big way in the great metropolis. To save money to send to them he slept nightly in the subway trains. For clothing, he picked up odds and ends, checked them in various stores and picked them up again as the garments he was wearing went into dissolution. He solved the problem of toilette by getting his shaves and haircuts in the Bowery schools for barbers, where such service is free. He had reduced frugality to an art but his career was cut short by an unimaginative and unsympathetic policeman . . . And so it goes in life: the policeman is always there to prevent us from realizing our most gorgeously happy dreams.

* * *

The new supreme court building is a vast edifice containing about 25 courtrooms. A newspaper reporter delegated to cover the news there is up against handicaps of time and space. One enterprising reporter bethought himself of a noble idea. He bought himself a pair of roller skates, and thus equipped, he sped swiftly from court to court. But the sedate gentlemen of the bench, unused to having people careening into their courts in this breezy fashion, put a stop to this method of locomotion. The reporter in question has asked permission to use a bicycle.

English Women's Feet Are Getting Bigger Say The Boot And Shoe Men

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The world-famous line "Her pretty little feet did creep" will soon be sadly out of date—at least as far as Englishwomen are concerned.

This is amply borne out by the exhibits at the famous International Shoe and Leather Fair whose annual show has just been held here.

The Englishwoman's size in shoes has gone up from fours to fives in a general way of speaking and where the average woman used to find that a six fitted her comfortably she now has to have a seven.

Manufacturers attribute the increase in size to the increasing tendency of the modern woman to participate in all kinds of sport. This tendency is again reflected in the fact that the majority of the shoes exhibited except those for evening wear have a rounded instead of a pointed front.

Colored Santa, Aged 12, Home For Christmas

Robbed Postoffice, Showering Gifts Right And Left; He Drew Year In Prison

Good Behavior Wins Him Release And He Is Out For The Holidays

(International News Service)

ST. CLARIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 11—Bridgeport's little black Santa Claus is back home today after spending nearly a year in the Lancaster reform school because of his desire to shower that community with gifts last Christmas time.

The colored Kris Kringle is little Benjamin Richardson, 12, who obtained funds with which to buy various articles for his mother, brother and sisters and for neighbor children as well by the simple expedient of robbing the United States mails.

Robbed Mail Bags.

The youngster hid in a telephone booth in the postoffice in Bridgeport when the office closed for the night just a few days before Christmas. The clerks, tired after a hard day's work, locked up without noticing the black boy hidden in the shadows of the phone booth. When the office was clear of possible interference, the boy crawled to the mailing room where there were a number of sacks of mail brought from Wheeling, W. Va., just across the Ohio river, to this city for dispatch on a Cleveland-bound train.

In one sack he found a package from a Pittsburgh bank addressed to a Flushing bank. This he took with him and slid out a back window. On the shores of the river, he removed the wrappings and soon was a potential millionaire.

Became Millionaire.

The boy spent money until tired. He bought every possible kind of gift for his relatives and friends and buried the rest. Next morning his trail of Christmas cheer became the talk of the mercantile district about the time that the postoffice robbery was reported to officials.

In a few hours the police had Benjamin, the surplus cash and his confession. That same afternoon he was brought to Belmont county juvenile court and sentenced to Lancaster.

He was a model prisoner, obeying every rule. Accordingly, he has been sent home to remain during good behavior.

Rev. Crooks To Discuss Religious Education

To Present Message Sunday Evening In Reformed Presbyterian Church

In an effort to contribute something to the program of Educational Week, promoted by our schools, the pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, Rev. E. A. Crooks will discuss the problem of religious education at the Sabbath evening service. This is one of the live questions of the recent State Sabbath School Association, which held its convention in our city.

Any adequate religious educational program must deal with the subject from the point of view of the home, the church and the public schools. One of the problems is to adjust such a program in harmony with the various interests involved. Religion, morality and knowledge are essential to good citizenship. What part shall our public schools have in equipping the child in these essentials of citizenship? Shall the public schools confine its efforts to matters of knowledge, leaving the other essentials to other agencies? What kind of co-operation should there be between the schools and the church in matters of religion and morals? Has the state an obligation of its own in these matters to be met through its public schools? These questions will be discussed by the pastor at the Sabbath evening service.

Alaska Wolf Packs Take Toll Of Game In North Ontario

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 11.—Packs of Alaskan black wolves, the most ferocious killers of the far north, have invaded the Lake of the Woods district in Northern Ontario and are taking a heavy toll of large and small game, according to word reaching here.

Indians have brought the fearful word of the incursions of the black raiders, who, it is thought, have been driven from their sub-Arctic retreats through scarcity of food. One Indian trapper noticed a large pack south of Vermillion bay and similar stories have trickled in from other districts. Wild life is abundant around Vermillion and the wolves have spread terror among practically every species.

The marauding bands have been found in widely separated districts, trappers report, and are being augmented daily by new arrivals from the north.

Hunters and trappers fear that if they stay until winter they will not hesitate to attack humans if other game has been scared away and food becomes scarce. Larger than the feared Ontario timber wolf, the black beast is far more ferocious. The animals which have come south have been known already to have attacked and killed bull moose single-handed. Even the timber wolves have not been known to attack the antlered monarchs unless in packs.

Game life is already being depleted and several trappers report that deer are seeking protection by herding with moose.

MONUMENT TO HONOR LINCOLN

At Nancy Hanks Memorial Park, Lincoln City, Ind., a monument is to be erected by Indiana to honor Abraham Lincoln and his mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln. Plans outlined by Architect Thomas Hibben, of Indianapolis, indicate that it will be different from any of the other memorials dedicated to the Great Emancipator. It is to be a cloistered structure with a carillon tower, rising 150 feet with four quadrangular courts about the main structure. It will be in the center of the park which includes the site of the Lincoln cabin in the Hoosier State and the grave of his mother.

Early Fogs Bring Heavy Losses To English Railroads

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Usually early fogs in England are calling the attention of the railroad companies to the enormous financial loss caused by these nuisances.

An average of $150,000 a day is a very moderate estimate of the actual out-of-pocket cost to the railroads in the London area on account of fog. This does not include of course, indirect losses, such as dislocation of traffic and loss of business especially goods-carrying.

All work on the permanent way has to be suspended and the platelayers become look-out men; thousands of these have to be kept at work day and night and the overtime bill is correspondingly heavy.

Millions of detonators, or fog signals are used and the cost of these at forty per $1 is a heavy item. Then the slower running of trains when drivers have to "feel" their way along means a much larger consumption of fuel.

Anthracite Cooperative Conference Concludes

By S. I. NEIMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Nov. 11.—The dawn of a new era in the anthracite field was seen today by the business men of the hard coal regions as they started home from the anthracite co-operative conference.

A composite program, drafted from the recommendation of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Governor John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, and speakers for the operators, miners, coal dealers and big business, follows:

1. Advertise anthracite until the public is convinced it is the best fuel on the market.
2. Modernize mining operations to reduce the cost of production and thus to a reduction in prices, without any attempt to slash wages.
3. Use the operators' commercial agents and the local dealers to gain the confidence of consumers.
4. Develop a spirit of co-operation between miners and operators so there can be no strikes in the future and the public will be assured of a continuous supply of anthracite.
5. Develop new markets for anthracite by adverstising and commercial research activities.
6. Guarantee high grade coal by careful preparation of shipments at the mines.
7. Secure repeal of the Pennsylvania State Coal Tax, which is a tax on the consuming public.
8. Secure a revision of freight rates, so that transportation costs to tidewater will be less discriminatory.

These suggestions, some made by one individual or group and ignored by another, summarize all the recommendations given the congress. They were such as to bring optimistic statements from the business men of the coal regions, who promoted the congress.

"The idea of this congress seems to have been endorsed by miners, operators, and business men in a most generous way," observed Roy C. Haines, Secretary of the Mount Carmel Chamber of Commerce, who was responsible for the convention. "One of the most surprising conclusions is that the miners, operators and the public is able to offer material aid in restoring prosperity to the anthracite fields.

Speaker Tells Of Home Life Of Moslem Women

Miss Narbeth, Returned Missionary, Speaks To Women's Missionary Convention

The domestic life of Moslem women was described in a very graphic manner by Miss Gwendolyn Narbeth, returned missionary from Constantine, North Africa, at the first session of the 41st annual convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Methodist Episcopal church, Erie conference of New Castle district, Thursday afternoon in the Epworth M. E. church of this city.

The Arab women are kept secluded in tents, the speaker said, and are never seen on the streets unless properly veiled. On account of this seclusion and without proper ventilation in the tents, the women age very rapidly and look like old women at the age of 40. Both the mothers and the children are very susceptible to tuberculosis on account of the lack of fresh air.

The sons of Arabs are sent to school where they learn to read the Koran. The girls have no schooling whatever and are not allowed to be taught to read. At the age of nine years they begin to prepare for marriage and sit in tents with their mothers where they begin sewing on their wedding clothes.

At the evening meeting Miss Narbeth gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on "Our Work in Constantine." Prior to the lecture she showed the costumes worn by the people of that city. Her address both in the afternoon and evening was exceedingly interesting and was much appreciated by the large number of delegates present.

The afternoon session opened with the devotional hour in charge of Mrs. S. L. Maxwell. The address of welcome from the Foreign Missionary society was given by Mrs. C. P. Reynolds. Greetings from the Home Missionary society were given by Mrs. David McConahy. The response was made by Mrs. Martha Ketler.

After the devotionals led by Rev. S. L. Maxwell at the evening meeting a demonstration entitled "The Plea of the Mite Box" was presented by First M. E. church auxiliary. Those taking part included Mrs. W. C. Mechem, Mrs. William Stritmater, Mrs. Martha Ketler, Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. J. E. Whitacre and Mrs. William Wallace.

News Of Granges

The recent defeat in Maine by a two to one vote of the proposal to repeal the direct primary is traceable largely to the influence of the Grange, as the members of the latter organization were almost a unit in opposing a return to the old caucus-convention system of political affairs, with the endless corruption attendant thereto. The Main figures show every rural district supporting the direct primary, which is significant from the Grange standpoint because there are more than 400 rural Granges in Maine, with a membership of nearly 60,000.

A development in the year's Grange history is the creation of much interest in the state of Virginia, where several subordinates have recently been organized as well as a live Pomona Grange in Fairfax county. Several other sections of the state are clamoring for organization and the same request is made from the adjoining Carolinas. The year has also seen a distinct revival of Grange interest in Kentucky and several flourishing subordinates have just been organized in that state.

There is widespread Grange interest in the fact that the American Legion has taken up the vigorous advocacy of the Grange plan for the conscription of capital and labor in time of war as well as of men. The National Grange adopted this proposal at its Sacramento session in 1925 and is agitating the subject constantly as a peace ideal of most practical sort.

In Jefferson county, Pennsylvania, members of the Grange have organized a "flying squadron", a large group of them paying neighborly visits to other branches of the order throughout the county, putting on evening entertainments, dramatic events, etc., and greatly stimulating neighborliness and county acquaintance.

One subordinate Grange in Ohio numbers in its membership four generations, a young lad, his father, his grandfather and his great-grandfather. The three latter have been for years active members of the organization, and each of the three has served in turn as master of the Grange to which the four belong.

All the Granges of Wilson county, Kansas, have this year conducted a county contest to see which could initiate the largest number of new members, with first honors won by Merino Grange, No. 1573, which gained 45 new members. Great Grange enthusiasm was aroused in every part of the county.

A subordinate Grange in Wisconsin not only raised money for its treasury, but rendered a real clean-up service in farm homes and around town by arranging a "farm auction sale" to which every farmer in that locality was invited to contribute anything for which he thought he had no further use. The response brought together a great quantity of old furniture, farm machinery, lighting plants, etc., and even though selling at naturally low prices, a good sum total was realized. Then the Grange showed its community spirit by voting to take the entire proceeds of this unique sale and spend it for the purchase of public scales to be set up near the local railroad station for everybody to use.

At an Illinois Grange meeting recently the "surprise feature" was none other than an actual wedding ceremony, the contracting parties both being well-known members of the Grange in middle life, whose plans for the evening had been kept a complete surprise.

A small subordinate Grange in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, has made a net gain of 100 new members since 1927 came in, probably establising a record for the country. Gains of from 50 to 75 new members in a local Grange have occurred in different states throughout the country and the net membership increase for the year has been many thousands.

At the Oregon State College of Agriculture a weekly feature of its radio station is the broadcasting of a Grange program, to which prominent leaders throughout the state freely contribute, both in the form of addresses, musical numbers and other informational features, to which thousands of Grange members and rural people regularly listen in.

Pershing Pays Fitting Tribute To War Mothers

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—"We all know well what the American woman gave in the World War. The mothers, the sisters, the wives, the sweethearts of our men were the real heroes of the war," General John J. Pershing said in an Armistice Day message to the women of America printed in McCall's magazine.

"With all the American woman did in those days, her opportunity for still greater service is at hand. True patriotism is not confined to time of war, but is an every day principle of political life.

"If we can build for the future upon the lofty, enduring basis already established, then the mothers of America have cause for rejoicing.

"If the gold star mother and her sisters will strive for an America, virile, efficient, God-fearing and law-abiding—an America adequately prepared against the armed aggression from without and the stealthy propagandist from within, they will best advance the cause of enduring peace among all peoples."

In this tolerant age most people are broad-minded enough to think up some other excuse for their opposition to Al Smith.

Mexico, Mo., claims to have one of the youngest presidents of Business and Professional Woman's clubs in the United States. She is Almeda Hill, 21, a high school graduate at the age of 17. She holds a responsible position with a public utility company.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Hillcrest avenue paving between Delaware avenue and Highland avenue has been completed and opened for traffic. This makes a fine connecting link between Highland and Delaware, that will prove a great convenience for traffic this winter.

Isn't it the truth—An arm protruding from the side of a machine ahead apparently can signify any one of the following things: The motorist is (1) knocking ashes off his cigaret, (2) going to turn to the left, (3) warning a small boy to shut up, (4) going to turn to the right, (5) pointing to the scenery, (6) going to back up, (7) feeling for rain, (8) telling his wife he is sure the front door is locked, (9) hailing a friend in a passing car, (10) going to stop.—Orlando (Fla.) Morning Sentinel.

Making a count of traffic on the streets of the city at the present time, seems to be rather an untimely proposition. New Castle's biggest traffic congestion occurs during the summer months, when thousands of tourists are going through. Normal local traffic only will be encountered by the enumerators at the present time.

Mayor-elect W. H. Gillespie took a most opportune time to go hunting. Spending a few days after being elected mayor, in the wilds of the county, where he could not be reached by the multitude is Pa Newc's idea of an ideal vacation.

Why not make plans for the decoration of downtown New Castle for the holiday season. In many cities colored lights, wreaths of evergreen, small Christmas trees, etc., are used effectively to give a Christmas atmosphere to the shopping centres. It has never been tried in New Castle.

While there will be some of the city hall offices that the new administration will have to fill within a few months after the members take office, the change in administration is nothing compared to the days of some fifteen or more years ago. At that time the police force, fire departments, and all of the city employes were subject to the fancy of the changing administrations, and a hundred or more jobs sometimes depended upon the election outcome. At the present time, police, foremen, and numerous other departments, in the city, are under civil service regulations, and elections mean little to employes who are doing their duty.

New Castle's immediate suburbs are certainly developing rapidly. The number of new homes springing up on the environs of this city is remarkable. It will not be long until it will be necessary for the city limits to extended in several directions to take in what is really the city of New Castle.

Coal Operators May Sign New Wage Agreement

Report Hard Coal Operators Ready To Accept Lewis Proposal For Extension

(International News Service)

MOUNT CARMEL Pa., Nov. 11.—Armistice Day observance here took on an industrial aspect today when it became known that there is a possibility the anthracite operators will accept the proposal of John L. Lewis United Mine Workers president, for a five year extension of the present wage agreements, which expires in 1931.

The operators have discussed the Lewis proposal at several secret conferences since the union leader made it at a session of the anthracite co-operative congress. More operators have endorsed the idea it was said, than were found to be critical of it.

The extension, however, must be negotiated directly between the miners and operators as wages was one subject barred to action by the proposed permanent anthracite co-operative association.

Daniel T. Pierce of New York vice-chairman of the anthracite operators conference and Major W. W. Inglis of Scranton, one of the largest operators in the country were said to favor a motion of the Lewis proposal. Both weere said to feel that an extension of the wage agreement for five years or until 1936 would be a great step.

Reeves Visits Place Where He Will Work

Councilman-Elect Meets With Some City Hall Employes During Day

Clayton H. Reeves, councilman-elect, journeyed through city hall today, not bent on any particular business, but probably to look over the place where he will spend his next several years as a servant of the taxpayers of New Castle.

Mr. Reeves had a "cheery good morning" for everybody he met, and while he did not visit all of the offices, he did meet some of the employes who are now working in city hall.

"Making your first call to City Hall?" a reporter asked.

More Weddings Than Divorces By Ten To One

Marriages Still Hold A Big Lead Over Legal Separations

Many "Gretna Greens" In Small Towns Make Easy For "Migrating" Couples

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Despite America's rapidly increasing divorce rate and the general instability of matrimonial bonds, possibly due to the greater pressure under which modern life is lived, marriages still outnumber the legal separations by the rate of more than ten to one, according to the United States Bureau of the Census.

A careful analysis of marriage records discloses in proportion to population the greatest number of weddings occur in the east and west south central states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

The South Atlantic group also is made up of states of many marriages with a rate of more than 11 to the 1,000 population. In this section the individual state record for marriages in 1926 was shattered by Florida where 21.6 out of every 1,000 were married. Maryland took second place with 16.3 while Mississippi ranked third with 16.

Conservative New England

The more conservative New England states have the lowest marriage rate with about 7.9 to the 1,000 population, while the Middle Atlantic, comprising New York, Pennsylvania and other industrial states has a rate of about 8.6.

The marriage analysis is featured by the statement that in United States are forty-three counties in which the marriage rate is three times that of the state in which they lie.

These "Gretna Greens" usually are confined to one or to a few counties of the particular state.

Gretna Greens

"Many of the Gretna Greens are small towns, in counties adjacent to large cities."

Cecil County, Maryland, takes the county record with 203 marriages per 1,000 population.

The following counties are given as the places of more runaway marriages than all the rest of the United States combined:

California—Orange County.
Colorado—Arapahoe, Jefferson and Sedgwick counties.
Florida—Broward county.
Georgia—Charlton, Quitman and Walker counties.
Idaho—Kootenai county.
Illinois—Lake and Monroe counties.
Indiana—Clark county.
Iowa—Mills county.
Kansas—Johnson county.
Kentucky—Boyd, Campbell and Kenton counties.
Louisiana—St. Bernard Parish.
Maryland—Cecil, Garrett and Howard counties.
Michigan—Menominee and Monroe counties.
Missouri — Clay, Newton and St. Charles counties.
Nebraska—Sarpy county.
New Mexico—Hidalgo county.
Ohio—Lawrence county.
South Dakota—Union county.
Tennessee—Sullivan county.
Texas—Comal, Lamb, Parmer and Rockwall counties.
Utah—Davis county.
Virginia—Greensville, Alexandria and Danville counties.
Washington — Clark, Cowlitz, and Skamania county.
West Virginia—Brooke county.

It is a pity that the average woman hasn't half as much patience for her husband that she has for her baby.

Little Sweethearts are the Rage now

All ideas of beauty, style and fitness call for slender figures now. All who seek to please, in movies or society, must banish excess fat.

Note how many do that. In every circle you can see that most folks now are slender. Fat is the exception.

One great reason is Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. The slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

No abnormal exercise or diet is required, though moderation helps. The results of Marmola come through supplying a substance which Nature employs in nutrition. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. The use is based on wide research and experiment.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. This to let you know just why it acts and avoid any fear of harm.

Marmola has for two decades held top place in this field. Go learn the reason. Watch what it does for beauty, health and vitality! Then tell your friends who need it. No one can afford to be abnormal when reduction is so easy. Order now—before you forget it.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Governor Fisher Stays At Capital

Makes No Address Today, Ninth Anniversary Of Armistice Day

By S. I. NEIMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Pennsylvania stood with bowed head today, in tribute to the memory of four thousand sons killed in action in the Great World War.

While the commonwealth marked the ninth anniversary of the ending of hostilities with appropriate ceremonies in every part of the state, Armistice Day was a day of memories as well as a gala holiday. Banks, stores and schools were deserted, while parades and festivities recalled the tumultuous acclaim with which word of the ending of the war was greeted in Pennsylvania.

The state remembered the marching battalions of khaki and navy blue, and the stout-hearted white clad nurses, 370,961 strong, who marched away at the call to arms. For these banners flew today, and bands played, while millions gathered to honor their service.

For the 291 officers and 7,607 men who were casualties in the war, there were prayers and memories. The state proudly displayed gold stars for 157 officers and 3,796 men killed in action.

Not only did the day mark the dedication of memorial shafts in various parts of the state, and religious and athletic programs claim the attention of thousands, but Governor John S. Fisher sounded a call for contributions to the American Red Cross in its eleventh annual Roll Call.

Governor Fisher, who had been swamped with scores of invitations to speak today, chose to remain in the quiet seclusion of the executive mansion, after issuing his Red Cross proclamation.

In his proclamation setting aside today for the remembrance of the commonwealth's heroic dead, the governor asked that at eleven o'clock in the morning, the populance "desist from their occupations, suspend all business and for two minutes, when every head may be bowed, and every heart may reverently remember the sacrifices of our heroic dead and join in offering grateful prayer to Almighty God for deliverence from the horrors of war.

In his Red Cross appeal, Governor Fisher emphasized the work and service of the organization in its humanitarian projects. The Roll Call is to begin today, to last to Thanksgiving Day.

Celebration At Hillsville For Wm. J. Edwards

Big Parade And Speeches At Jollification Meeting Last Night

WAS RE-ELECTED AS MAHONING CONSTABLE

Celebrating the victory of Constable W. J. Edwards, who was re-lected constable of Mahoning township last Tuesday, Hillsville and vicinity turned out en-masse at a big demonstration last night. A parade in which 350 were in line, was led by a band from the Seventh ward, this city. Several addresses were made in which Constable Edwards was lauded for services in maintaining peace and good order in the community, and for the faithful performance of duties connected with his office.

It was an unusual demonstration, owing to the fact that it was staged for a successful candidate for a township office. Usually not much attention is paid to such offices, but features surrounding the Mahoning township fight were somewhat out of the usual order. Interest was displayed in the contest by forces outside of the township.

Edwards, who is a Democrat, won the primary nomination over W. C. Graham, getting the nomination on the Democratic, Republican and Prohibition tickets by a vote of about four to one. After Edwards had been nominated, Jonah Byers, was brought out on an independent ticket as an opponent.

Those responsible for bringing out Byers put up a bitter fight which was carried on up to the very hour of casting the ballots. Watchers were engaged and demands that tax receipts be shown were made in many instances, before electors were allowed to vote.

Notwithstanding this fight Edwards won over his opponent by a vote of 670 to 129, his overwhelming majority testifying to the high esteem in which he is held in the community. It was but fitting, after such a wonderful victory, that Edwards popularity should culminate in a big celebration such as was held night. The addresses were to the effect that Mahoning township could run its own affairs.

Edwards has been an enforcer of law and order in Mahoning township for many years. Naturally he has made enemies. No man can rule a lawless element with an iron hand, without making some bitter opponents. In this case, however, a peculiar situation developed as the leaders of the campaign against Edwards do not appear to have been residents of the community. Edwards knows everybody in the township and when there is any trouble he usually knows where to look for the parties responsible. Criminals fear him; good citizens respect him.

Another contest in Mahoning township which attracted attention was that of the fight for road supervisor, in which Milo Paden defeated C. W. Shingledecker.

Consider Ramsey's Exoneration Request

City Treasurer Ira Ramsey's request that he be exonerated of collection of $7,298.02 today was submitted to city council by the city clerk during regular session. On motion of Councilman W. V. Tyler the request was referred to committee. Council granted the request of Mercantile Assessor F. F. Loveridge for exoneration of mercantile assessments amounting to $659.

Reports Collision With Milk Wagon

John Strizzi, 507 Pearson street, reported to the police today that he was driving his machine west on East Lutton street at Cunningham avenue, when it was in a collision with a milk wagon of the Chapman Dairy, which was going south on Cunningham avenue, and turning to the left onto East Lutton street. Charles Smith of 932 Marshall avenue, was in charge of the dairy wagon. The horse of the milk wagon fell on Strizzi's car in the collision and smashed the fender and broke the windshield. Strizzi stated that his car skidded, when he tried to avoid the accident.

Raymond Cunningham, R. D. No. 4, reported Thursday that he was enroute east on West Washington street at Shenango street, when his machine collided with that of Chester Hopkins of 2 West Home street. Some damage was done.

New Sheriff-Elect "Back To Work" At His Glowing Forge

GREENVILLE, Pa., Nov. 11.—Mercer county's new sheriff-elect, Burgess Dan K. Callahan of Greenville, was on duty today at his little blacksmith shop on North Water street, here, to clean up some work that had been piling up for the past few days, during the election campaign.

Donning his leather apron, he seized the forelock of a horse waiting to be shod, and declared his short layoff was softening his muscles. However, the shoes were taken off and new ones fitted with as much display of strength as ever.

Burgess Callahan's political rise began a decade ago, when, as a leading blacksmith, he came in contact with people who had time on their hands, and frequently talked of politics, while the horses were being shod. This threw him into company with farmers, teamsters, hucksters and residents of the town. He began to take an interest in local issues, and was elected to council on a Democratic ticket.

His re-election the next term brought with it the presidency of the council. He was recognized as a forceful man, who would take an issue in hand, just as he did a fractious horse, and bring it to terms. This brought him to the office of burgess, where he was elected on the Democratic ticket. He served a term, weathered all the storms which came his way—and there were plenty—and was re-elected at the second election when 1,002 Republicans wrote his name in.

When the Democrats sought a good man to fill the ticket for sheriff, their natural first thought was Callahan. Adopting a "Square Deal" slogan, the burgess waged a quiet, unobtrusive, but wholly effective campaign. The result was his election, Tuesday, when he carried more than half of the 90 precincts of the county by large majorities.

Warren Motorman Exonerated For Death Of Girl

(International News Service)

WARREN Pa. Nov. 11.—Motorman Landers who was operating a trolley car that killed Miss Esther Hultberg November 7, was exonerated of all blame by a coroner's jury. The street car company however should take more care in driving their trolleys the jury recommended.

Reformed Bandit Begs For Alms

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Pat Crowe, one-time bandit, train robber, kidnaper, author and lecturer on the futility of crime, fell into the clutches of the law today for begging. He received a suspended sentence and bought a ticket for his home at Hastings-on-the-Hudson with a collection taken up by detectives.

Crowe regaled the police with tales of his exploits 25 years ago. He received $25,000 ransom after kidnaping Edward Cudahy, son of the millionaire packer, and terrorized western railroads by a series of train robberies. He was successful as a lecturer and writer, he said, but financial reverses dissipated his wealth.

In 1883 Japan had fewer than 100 factories with machinery.

Physical Training Schedule Likely For Police And Firemen

Physical training for members of the police and fire departments is compulsory in many cities throughout the United States but departmental members of New Castle are not forced to undergo physical training.

Several years ago there was considerable talk of putting the members of both departments through physical exercises several times a week for the purpose of having the men better qualify themselves to cope with an emergency that would arise.

Some of the younger members of the departments spoke well of the plan but the plan was never put into execution.

With the new administration to start January 2 it is probable the physical training idea may be broached again.

A course of physical training, participated in several times a week would act as a benefit according to some.

The men would benefit from the plan if adopted from a health point and also as to their ability to cope with situations.

The men could be put on the the "pulleys," wrestle, box a little, be required to run a certain distance without becoming winded and go through other exercises which would do them good.

The men have been trained in pistol shooting, though lately target practice has been apparently abandoned. During practice several of the men became quite adept with revolvers.

Mayor-Elect William Gillespie is not in the city today and his ideas concerning physical training could not be obtained.

Youthful Hunter Is Shot In Back

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 11.—Shot in the back while hunting near Coleville with Ernest and Earl Sprester, Floyd Dalton, 16, son of George Dalton, Coleville, was in a critical condition in Bradford hospital today.

Ernest Sprester, 15, stood on a log aiming at a pheasant and slipped, the gun being discharged and the shot entering Floyd's back. Earl rushed to Coleville for relatives who rushed the wounded boy to the hospital.

The shot penetrated Floyd's lungs and he suffered from loss of blood. It was the county's first hunting accident this season.

Spafford Talks On "Armistice"

FORSEES ANOTHER WAR IN FUTURE

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 11.—Today, nine years after the signing of the armistice, Edward E. Spafford, national commander of the American Legion in a message to the American people here hailed with thanksgiving America's final victory in the world war but sounded a clarion call of warning that "there is nothing quite so permanent as human nature."

"Fear and greed will always have a prominent place in the makeup of human nature," the head of the legion asserted.

Contrasting with Spafford's speech was the final day of the meeting here of the international good will congress of the world alliance for international friendship. Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the trying days from 1916 to 1921 delivered an address before the congress on the theme "Must We Have War?"

Col. Raymond Robins also speaking before the international conference spoke on the subject "The Outlawry of War."

"When we went forth to do battle and girded on our armour, we were told we were entering a war to end wars," Spafford declared. "We came out of the war not to celebrate an enduring peace but to celebrate simply a cessation of hostilities—the Armistice."

The last war has not been fought, Spafford asserted.

Seek Youthful Robber Gang

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 11.—Police here today sought 10 youths ranging in age from 17 to 24, who they charge have been looting the entire northeast end of this county and escaping with hundreds of dollars worth of property. Hotels, restaurants and automobiles have been the prey of the young men, according to the police.

Those sought are Victor Krantz, Lester Beck, Raymond Stark and John Garman of Ephrata; Edwin Wise of Red Run, B. Ruth, Harold Buckwalter of Ephrata; Milton Wanner of Schoeneck; William Kane of Akron and Richard Bowers of Terre Hill.

Police said that while the single robberies have no great value, the gang of youths left few easily looted places untouched.

In the spree of robbing, police said the boys took everything from a package of candy to slot machines and a table. Automobile blankets and gasoline served as loot in nearly all occasions, the authorities declared.

Sunday Movies To Operate In Dover

(International News Service)

DOVER, Ohio, Nov. 11.—Sunday movies in Dover's three theatres will be unmolested, Mayor P. J. Groh announced today after being informed the movie owners had decided to appeal the previous closing of the places to the state supreme court.

"We won't enforce the blue laws unless the people want them enforced," said Groh, adding that action against the movie houses would have to be based on prosecutions by citizens. The mayor prevented Sunday exhibitions October 16.

The silver lining to all domestic clouds is pay day.

Not many young men are entering the army and navy, according to local recruiters, but in the service of Uncle Sam there are unlimited opportunities for study and travel.

Today the Army recruiting station officer said the army is the portal through which young men, ambitious, but financially unable to pay for college courses, have a chance to realize opportunities through the ranks of the regular army to attend West Point preparatory schools held throughout the country.

The army recruiter says there are all kind of schools including those for clerks, stenographers, typists, bakers, cooks, electricians, motor mechanics, airplane technicians, storekeepers, and in fact all occupations a young man may wish to learn.

Young Teddy Roosevelt Comes In For Censure; Senator Curtis Looms Up

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Young Teddy Roosevelt is coming in for considerable fresh lambasting lately because, as assistant naval secretary, he didn't raise a row over Secretary Denby's transfer of the navy's oil lands to Secretary of the Interior Fall, when the two were fellow-members of the cabinet in 1921-2.

As a witness at the Fall-Sinclair trial the other day, he testified that he knew practically no more about it than the office boy.

Critics suggest that if he'd been as alert then as he is now, in finding fault with Gov. Al Smith's management in New York, he might have headed off a series of scandals that we've had with us ever since—quite a snappy come-back for Teddy's recent anti-Tammany speech, during which some of his own political crowd, even, say he talked took much.

* * *

Folks who came into contact with him relate that he always had the gumption to make up his mind, one way or the other, and stand pat, right or wrong. They admit that he may have made some mistakes, but they incline to give him credit marks even for those, over the average departmental official who never goes wrong because he never decides on anything at all.

Young Teddy obviously thinks his father was the greatest man who ever lived and tries to be as exactly like him as he can. Naturally he'll never be recognized as having done a good job of it unless he makes out about twice as well as his original.

To be young Teddy is a hard job.

* * *

Senator Curtis has loomed up in Washington about three times his previous size since he came out flat-footedly for the presidency.

In doing it, he knocked the pussy-foot candidates groggy, too.

They expected him to be a "favorite son"—considered it quite possible he'd express a willingness to have a few complimentary votes cast for him—actually thought he stood an outside vice presidential chance, though rather old—and of late they've had to own that he was gaining presidential strength, due to corn belt developments.

Still, they hadn't really taken him very seriously. Now they must.

And the way he announced himself—an honest-to-goodness candidate or none at all—has a punch to it that takes the tuck out of mere science and footwork.

The first genuine crack to land, likewise! That counts.

On top of all that, it's Curtis. If he considers it worth his while to chip into this thing, it IS.

* * *

Senator Couzens certainly must have forgotten about Curtis when he said senators don't earn their pay.

As chairman of the rules committee, Curtis virtually is superintendent of the capitol building—down to the very detail of checking over the senate restaurant menu. The finance and appropriations committees, on which he's a hard-working member, are two of the most important in congress—taxes, expenditures and all that ticklish kind of stuff. As a one-eight redskin, and no joke, he's the Indian affairs committee's highest authority—he belongs to that also.

Between times, he's Republican senate floor manager, shapes party policies, consults the president, does the miscellaneous work of a senator, sees his visiting constituents, handles an enormous correspondence and attends several "functions," in a plug hat nearly every day of his life.

All that he does for $10,000 a year, and he's no Croesus, but has to live pretty well inside of it, too.

Dr. Annie Besant Sees Modern Girl 'Better And Worse'

By CHARLES A. SMITH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"Both better and worse than her ancestors" is the label attached to the modern girl by Dr. Annie Besant, the 80-year-old leader of the Pheosophical Movement. Dr. Besant, recently in the United States with Krishnamurti, her Indian protege who she claims is the coming Messiah.

Dr. Besant in an interview explained her label as follows:

She is better in that she is far more interested in the vital questions of life and of the nation and is continually seeking further knowledge. She is worse in that in many cases the time she should be devoting to her home and children is spent frivolling at silly meaningless things which make for nothing except the general deterioration of character."

Dr. Besant believes that the modern trend for healthy sport is for the good of womankind but thinks the night club, late dances, cocktail drinking habits which she has also developed should be condemned.

"I think that young girls of 20 or so as well as young men, get too much money these days and too responsible positions" she said "for in spite of the quicker brains of today it is essential that young people should gain experience before trying to rule."

Spraying Yields Potato Increase

Penn State Specialist Claims That The Average Increase Per Acre Is 150 Bushels

An average increase of 150 bushels per acre is credited to potato spraying, by E. L. Nixon, well known potato disease specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, according to H. R. McCulloch, county agent for Lawrence county. Mr. Nixon asserts that this record is a fitting culmination to 10 years of spraying practice in this state.

One of the most spectacular gains caused by spraying is that established in a demonstration on the farm of John R. Bachmann in Northampton county. Unsprayed rows in his 40 acre field yielded at the rate of 229 bushels to the acre, while sprayed rows produced 657 bushels to the acre.

Buick Displays November 12 To 19

Buick Models To Be Displayed At Lawrence Automobile Company

The Lawrence Automobile company Buick dealer, is completing arrangements for the Buick Autumn Display which will be held in its show rooms 101-103 South Mercer street, November 12 to 19. The public is invited to attend the Display, inspect the Buick models with their attractive new fall colors and upholsteries.

The Buick Autumn Display will be held simultaneously in hundreds of dealer showrooms throughout the country. An important feature of the new Buick DeLuxe models which will compare in interest with Buick's 1928 announcement which attracted more than 1,500,000 persons to Buick showrooms during late July.

The DeLuxe Buicks embody all the features for which Buick is famous, plus a captivating array of new colors and DeLuxe equipment.

This equipment includes handsome wire wheels, front fender wells and spare wheel locks, trunk rack, full rear bumpers to replace fender guards and other optional items.

In combination with Buick's mechanical superiorities its unsurpassed reliability, new low body lines and resplendent new Duco colors, these special accessories result in a line of motor cars rivaling in performance, beauty captivating style and extreme driving ease anything ever offered, regardless of price.

Persons who have not yet had an opportunity to examine Buick for 1928 closely will find attendants ready to point out its many improvements. These models were a sensation from coast to coast, literally taking the country by storm. Built on the famous Buick sealed chassis and powered with the Buick six-cylinder valve-in-head engine whose vibrationless performance startled the industry last year the new Buicks offer such additional features as an entirely new interior treatment greater get away and power enhanced beauty and a degree of riding and driving ease unapproached elsewhere.

Buick's new double-drop frame which achieved low body lines without sacrifice of head room or road clearance and its redesigned cantilever springs co-ordinated with shock absorbers front and rear on all models are two outstanding means by which Buick's advance in value was accomplished. They are however but two of a score of important improvements and refinements which our Display will enable visitors to see for themselves.

U. S. Opens War On Black Hills Beetle

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Nov. 11.—Uncle Sam again has entered war. This time it is a war on the Black Hills beetle. Now ten crews consisting of three men each, are busy felling trees that are infested in the Colorado National Forest. This work is being performed by the forest service.

According to forest service officials, millions of feet of yellow pine are threatened by this deadly, fast-spreading pest, which has attacked thousands of trees in spots over an area of approximately 200,000 acres in the forest.

It is expected that before the fall campaign ends between 6,000 and 10,000 trees will have been cut and the bark peeled off, which is the only method of combating the tree-killing insect.

Moslem Women In Syria Shed Veils

By GERSHON AGRONSKY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

JERUSALEM, Nov. 11.—Moslem women of Syria, Palestine and other countries in this part of the world formerly under the rule of the Sultans, are showing a marked interest in education.

Inspired by the example of the women of Turkey, where with the shedding of the veil women are beginning to prepare for public life in all its branches, Mohammedan girls in fanatic-ridden Damascus have ventured within the last month to appear on the street with uncovered faces, on their way to apply for admission in the Medical College.

The appearance of three women unveiled and unescorted produced a sensation. On hearing of it pious Moslems sent their wives first to remonstrate and then to drive back by force the impious women.

Damascus, however, was in for even a greater shock when it was learned that the girls had tried to enter the Medical school.

Next to Damascus, Jerusalem remains the centre of 100 per cent Mohammedism so far as women are concerned. The fez and the veil, symbols of Turkish nationalism and Moslem piety, both of which have been scrapped in Constantinople and throughout New Turkey, continue to be worn by Moslems in the Holy City.

A free country is one in which the people could run things if it wasn't so much pleasanter to let a few professionals do it.

The beauty killer

HERE, it strikes a young and beautiful woman —and in a few years her charm and freshness will have fled. . . . Here, it grips a man at the height of his promise—soon he will have lost his vim and energy—to sink, with blighted prospects, into obscurity. . . .

What a deadly affliction constipation is! What havoc it wreaks upon human health and happiness! Thief of youth. Robber of strength. Evil forerunner of disease and misery! It plays its insidious role in every walk of life. Filling stout hearts with despair. Blasting high hopes. Blighting bright careers. Destroying health! Killing beauty!

What a blessing that there is safe relief from this dreadful scourge! More — prevention! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. To prevent it ever beginning its deadly work.

Why ALL-BRAN alone is effective

ALL-BRAN has "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it through the intestines, at the same time gently distending them — cleansing, purifying, eliminating poisonous wastes.

How different from part-bran products which contain so little bulk that there is hardly enough to have any effect at all—often none! That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN instead of part-bran products. Because ALL-BRAN is 100% bran.

And contrast ALL-BRAN with dangerous drugs and pills—which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream. Fruits or honey, added, make it an extra treat. Let it soak in the milk a few moments to bring out all its nut-like flavor. Serve it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Don't run needless risks with a part-bran substitute. At best, it can be but partially effective. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants and cafeterias. On diners. Made by the Kellogg Company in Battle Creek, Mich. Write for free "Treatise on Constipation."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Valuable Cattle Burned In Blaze Near West Chester

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 11.— Forty-nine prized dairy cows, a valuable bull and three horses were burned to death in a fire that destroyed a large barn on the farm of William E. Parry near here today, the loss was estimated at $60,000.

A large amount of farm machinery and crops also was destroyed by the mysterious blaze. The fire was discovered by a motorist who aroused Parry. Despite efforts of Parry and neighbors the blaze had gained such headway the animals could not be saved. West Chester firemen fought the flames but without avail.

Parry was unable to account for the origin of the fire.

"Nobody knows how dry I am" used to be a song instead of a politician's declaration of principles.

Better Business Men Have Banquet

Thirty-Five Attend Gathering At The Castleton On Thursday

BUYING AT HOME STRONGLY STRESSED

Laying before the Better Business Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce the proposition that they should bring to New Castle a course in elementary salesmanship, or selling over the counter, Charles H. Meyerholz of the extension department of the University of Pittsburgh was the main speaker at the second annual dinner of the organization held at The Castleton Thursday evening. William Gordon of the Euwer company, and who is president of the Bureau, acted as toastmaster.

Thirty five members of the Bureau were in attendance at the meeting, and all expressed opinions favorable to Mr. Meyerholz' suggestion. A committee will be appointed, and it is likely that the course for salespeople will start soon after the Christmas holidays.

After a brief introduction by Mr. Gordon, in which he recapitulated the history of the organization, the financial report was given by Alfred W. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and secretary and treasurer of the Better Business Bureau.

"One and one half years ago," stated Mr. Chilton, "the Better Business Bureau was started in New Castle, without any financial backing whatsoever. Since that time, there has been turned into the treasury, through dues, Dollar day funds, et cetera, $2,038. In the same time, there has been expended $1,741 through advertising and other matters. A balance of $297 is now in the treasury."

Next speaker on the program was Ray F. Hall of the New Castle Credit Exchange, who told something of the method of operating a credit exchange.

"Although the charter for the credit exchange was filed only a trifle more than a year ago," said Mr. Hall, "yet we now have 222 members, and all of our members are co-operating. In one month we fill from 800 to 1000 calls. And, although ours is not a money making proposition, yet we have gone from a financial liability to a place where we pay our own way."

The practice of sending unordered goods through the mails at Christmas time was next scored by Mr. Chilton, who not only claimed that this practice was unethical, but that the persons who received such articles need not return them. There is only one way in which the local merchants can be protected from this unethical practice he averred, and that is through publicity.

Following this a motion was made and seconded that a "Buy at Home" committee be appointed, and a campaign to educate the public against this evil be started.

After the talk by Mr. Meyerholz of the University of Pittsburgh, a nominating committee, headed by DeLace Cole, was appointed to name officers for the next year, and were requested to meet and function at once, so that the ballots can be gotten to the members by Thanksgiving.

The great problem of showmen seems to be to get the uplift and the upkeep in the same theater.

Don't count on Carrie!

Do menstrual periods make you a stay-at-home certain days of every month? They needn't! And you need not endure one pang of pain if you'll accept the assistance of Midol.

Midol makes menstruation an incident! No pain, not even discomfort, is necessary now. Women who used to have the very hardest time have found this to be true. Midol is a marvelous product; the work of specialists. It is not a narcotic. But it stops all pain in five to seven minutes. Taken in time, the pain never starts. All drugstores have Midol, in aluminum pocket case for fifty cents, so it's folly to suffer!

Three Mine Guards Under Arrest For Alleged Gunplay

MARTINS FERRY, O., Nov. 11.— Police took into custody three guards employed at the Webb mine, near Shadyside, today in connection with the shooting of Michael Baron, a union picket. Union headquarters claimed the guards broke into a lookout tower used by union pickets and opened fire, wounding Baron in the foot. They were arrested in Wheeling.

Troop 1

Rotary troop 1 held its weekly meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of reorganizing the troop. Many of the old members were in attendance, accompanied by a large number of young hopefuls who wish to join the troop. Leroy Norton will act in the capacity of scoutmaster and because of Mr. Norton's leadership ability and knowledge of scouting added to the enthusiasm and determination of the boys, it is believed that in a short time this troop will be one of the best under the Lawrence county council.

Patrol leaders and patrols were selected as follows:

Jack Stone has been chosen to act as senior patrol leader of the troop.

Athletic patrol competition was held between the various patrols. Charles T. Metzler, as a representative of the Rotary Club, was in attendance and spoke to the boys in a very interesting manner, urging them on to great things.

The next meeting will be held Friday, Nov. 18, at Ben Franklin High school. Any boys interested in Scout work are invited to attend.

Scribe, John Boston.

TROOP 4

The weekly meeting of the Kiwanis troop 4 will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Mahoning school. Scoutmaster John E. Dye will be in charge of the meeting and he urges all members of the troop to be in attendance.

Troop 13

Lion troop 13 met last night at the Scotland Lane school with a large attendance of Scouts. Scoutmaster Peter Grittle was in charge of the meeting.

The collection of the Near East Relief contributions was made with fine results. A report was also made on the cake selling that is being done by the troop. This troop is now among the leaders in this activity.

The program for next week's meeting has been arranged as follows: opening and closing exercises by one of the Scouts of the troop, woodcarving instructions, rope splicing instructions and whipping. A large attendance is expected.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Championship Contests Will Be Played In City

That the Senior basketball championship of the Western Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A's. will be played in New Castle early in March of 1928, was the statement made this morning by Walter Kirker, physical director of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., following a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Physical Directors Society, held in Pittsburgh, Thursday.

In all, there are 22 associations in the Western Pennsylvania district, says Mr. Kirker, and all expect to send teams to compete at New Castle before the state wide championship matches are run off. It is probable that this meet will be an all day affair, and even now, officials of the local Y. M. C. A. are making plans for the entertainment of the visiting teams.

Well, well, it's fair enough. Some women roll their stockings and some roll baby carriages.

Did you ever see persons so cross and unsociable, that you could scarcely even force yourself to like them? I have and I've always wondered if they must be very sad and sorry because they act so.

There was once a little girl like that, (but she did not stay unpleasant for long.) She went away from home, traveled all the way across the ocean to people who were strangers to her and with whom she was to live. Such a sad lonely little girl, and such a wilfull one. She learned that there was something mysterious about her now home, and it was not long before she solved the mystery. She became a much happier child after her discovery and she led two others into happiness through it. One of the others was a boy who had been just as willful and spoiled as the little girl, until their wills clashed and the girl's was the stronger. The other was a lad whom everybody loved and who was beloved of animals especially. These three worked together to make one of them strong so that he would be no longer a cripple and they succeeded.

Not only were the children made happier, for there was an old man whose heart had become hard and bitter, who saw his fault through these children. Is it not true that we do not realize that our acts and words influence others as greatly as they do?

VIRGINIA SLEE.

No. 8.

How is it that great writers are known to the world? Through their writings, certainly. Great writers are always known by their works. If their literature is sufficiently great it will last for many generations. The author of this book is English. He lived during the nineteenth century. His father, grand father and many of his uncles were builders of lighthouses so that may perhaps account for the spirit of adventure in him. He has written some of the most thrilling adventure stories that have ever been given to the public. Yet he did not write this kind alone but is widely known by his writings for children.

This book is one that almost every school child has read. It appeals to boys especially because of the great adventure in it. From the beginning to the end one is held in constant suspense and this anxiety is not relieved until the last. The author has allowed his imaginations to work very vividly in the story and so it is not restricted to any known land but to one that the author has chosen to correspond with a map that he drew. The author's great personality keeps creeping out at all points during the story. One peculiarity of the book is that there is only one woman in the story and she is mentioned only once during the whole novel.

The story begins in an inn in England. The inkeeper's son is one of the most important characters in the story. He is a young boy full of adventure. A rugged old seaman comes to the inn and takes up his abode there. He turns out to be a member of the crew of a very famous captain. One day he receives a message and dies from the shock of it. The innkeeper's son finds a map and takes it to his friends. Of course, with the happening of all these events the plot thickens more and more. Then the friends of the boy decided to fit out a ship and try and find certain islands marked on the map. Here again we see the personality of the author coming out. Some members of a famous crew get enlisted as sailors on the ship. One begins to expect trouble immediately. All during the voyage you are keyed up for fear the sailors will mutiny, but finally they reach the island. The sailors have found out that these people are after something very valuable. Surely there will be trouble for of course, the sailors will want the treasure for themselves. And just as one expects, but hopes that it won't happen, the sailors mutiny and start out for themselves. The inkeeper's son slips away from the rest to do a little exploring for himself. Deep in the forest he finds a man who has been on the island for many years. This man has been all alone and so rejoices at seeing a human person again. He agrees to help fight against the sailors who have mutinied and when the innkeeper's son goes back to the boat he finds that the sailors have possession of it. Finally the friends of the boy are able to get possession of the boat again. The sailors look in vain for the valuable thing but do not find it because the man who has been on the island for so many years has taken it, and he gives it to the innkeeper's son and his friends. They finally reach England again, and each one spends his share as he pleases.

Thus one finds in this story a great adventure that appeals to young and old.

Lemon Fluff Tarts—Bake pastry Two eggs, one-half cup sugar, two shells in deep muffin tins. Filling: tablespoons lemon juice, two teaspoons gelatin, three tablespoons cold water. Place egg yolks, half the sugar and lemon juice in top of double boiler. Beat hard, and when thoroughly blended, add gelatin (previously dissolved in cold water) and remainder of sugar. Continue to beat until mixture begins to thicken. Remove from fire and stir into the stiffly beaten whites. When cold, pour into pastry shells, and just before serving top with whipped cream. This amount makes three generous tarts, and twice this amount makes one good sized pie.

Her Worst Worry Ended for a Dime!

A Body Sweetness that Even Perspiration Can't Spoil

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed away the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for autointoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

Route For Scout Treasure Hunt

Scouts Will Start At Shenango Street On Trip Saturday

The following is the route of the treasure hunt to be followed out by the scouts of the Lawrence county council this week.

Several have inquired in regards the points of the contest but because many of the scouts are still anxious to participate these points are being held for a week. It is the desire of Scout Commissioner Dye that all scouts enter into this for the fun connected with it as well as for the scout benefits.

Begining at Shenango street on West Washington street, how many scout paces does it take to the first church you come to on the right hand side of the street, proceeding east What is the name of this church? Who is the pastor?

From this point proceed to the first hotel on your right. What hotel is this and how did it derive its name? Who was the first proprietor?

Proceed from this point to the first hardware store on your right. What is the name of this store and what did you see in the two windows? Proceed to the next hotel on the right. What is the name of this hotel and how did it derive its name? On the corner of what streets is it located? How did these two streets derive their names?

From this point proceed out Neshannock avenue to Rural avenue, follow Rural avenue up the hill to Park avenue. How many birch trees did you seen on this trail? How many white oaks? How many scout paces did the trail require?

Urge Worth Of Merchant Navy To World Peace

Navy League Of U. S. In Annual Celebration Is Offering New Program

American Shipping Must Be Protected Over World, Says Secretary

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The need of a great American merchant marine to insure prosperity in peace and aid the Navy in war is for the first time linked with the annual celebration of "Navy Day" today.

Adopting this new policy the Navy League of the United States, with the active support of the administration, is carrying its message into every part of the country on the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, the Navy's great champion.

The fighting ships of the Navy, the Army's transport and coast defense units and the Shipping Board's great liners went on dress parade for the day, while the Navy League's program was borne to the country through the newspapers, by radio, and in countless addresses.

Emphasizing the importance of a merchant marine, Walter B. Howe, national chairman for Navy Day, said:

Wealth of U. S.

"The United States has the largest number of enfranchised citizens who are experienced in self-government of any country in the world. Its wealth is more than one-third the total wealth of the world. Its foreign trade exceeds $10,000,000,000 annually. It has changed from the food-exporting economy of the nineteenth century until now it imports much more food than it sells abroad. Many individuals rely on the foreign markets to absorb a large part of their products and are dependant on these markets to insure full employment and high wages.

"Amply able as we are to provide the protection which our position demands, it behooves the United States to maintain a Navy equal to the strongest."

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur joined with the Navy League heads in urging consideration of the close alliance of interest between the merchant marine and the navy, declaring that in time of war a merchant marine becomes "a vital element of national defense."

American shipping foreign loans, foreign property and foreign trade of the United States, which must be protected from aggression of others now totals $31,000,000,000 Secretary Wilbur declared in a "Navy Day" statement.

"These vast interests must be considered when we talk of defending the flag," he said. "That flag must be defended unhesitatingly and with all our power whenever attacked. It makes no difference whether it floats from an army post in Montana or from an American ship in the harbor of Calcutta or Sitka.

Foreign Commerce

"Today our merchant vessels are carrying about 32 per cent of our foreign commerce; it should be at least fifty per cent. The remaining 68 per cent, that is carried in foreign bottoms means that we pay annually about $600,000,000 to other countries for transporting our goods. A greater portion of this we should ship in our own bottoms, and so retain a large part of this vast sum at home. What is paid to foreign ships for carrying the products of our farms and factories is a stream of gold that leaves the country. That which is paid to our own merchant vessels circulates back into the country to take its general part in industry.

Poor Sorority Girl To Have Night Off Once Every Year

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 11—Pity the poor sorority girl. Denied the "freedom of their dates", enjoyed by their sisters beyond the pale of the campus pump, co-eds at the University of California have to be nice stay-at-home girls.

But there is one night in the year when they will be permitted to give vent to their social inhibitions without restriction. That night is the one following the annual "big game" with California's traditional rival, Stanford.

A rule that has withstood the onslaughts of militant and daring co-eds for the past 30 years was literally tossed to the winds recently by Lucy Stebbins, dean of women, when she announced that she would sanction the abrogation of the rule requiring all co-eds to be in their houses before two o'clock in the morning on the night of the California-Stanford football contest. Sorority girls will, according to Miss Stebbins, enjoy this night of freedom every year hereafter.

Junior and senior women at the university may entertain gentleman callers until midnight, but the lowly freshman and sophomore girls, under the rules, must bid their boy friends "good night" before 7:30 in the evening.

Germany Claims More Records In Aviation World

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Germany now claims two more world records in aviation for altitude in a glider and altitude in a small airplane. Ferdinand Schulz holder of all world's records for gliders bettered his own previous altitude when he sailed his motorless airplane to a height of 652 meters and stayed at this height for one minute and 38 seconds.

An altitude record for small airplanes was made by chief pilot Bohne of the Bauemer works when he reached a height of 5,690 meters in his tiny monoplane "Sausewind 1L." The record which beats the previous world record of 5,273 meters by 407 meters has been refered to the Federation Aeronautique International for registry.

Queen Mary Makes Knitted Wool Gifts For Royal Children

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Queen Mary and Princess Mary now have ready for distribution the Christmas gifts made by their own hands. The majority of the articles were made during Queen Mary's stay at Balmoral and the Princess's at her Yorkshire home.

Nearly all of them are knitted, ad although the royal workers may have had some help in the winding of the wool the knitting itself is so smooth and even that each piece could only have been made by one pair of hands.

The queen knits more especially for babies. Princess Mary's knitting is for older children, those of the age of her own two boys. One favorite gift of the queen to hospitals takes the form of dainty cot-covers. She also makes little babies' jackets and babies in the poorest parts of London may find themselves wearing a jacket precisely similar to those made by the queen for her little granddaughter Princess Elizabeth.

The queen also overlooks the distribution of Christmas gifts made by the Needledork Guild of which she is president. Last Christmas she had 13,000 garments on her list to be given out. Her most recent instruction to her co-workers is "to see that buttons and strings are on all garments requiring them and that everything is properly finished off.'

Ordinary itch is only skin deep, but an itch for office goes to the marrow of the bones.

Europe Has Passed Its Economic Crisis Financier Believes

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—In the opinion of Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, who has just returned from a tour abroad, Europe has passed its economic crisis.

"Conditions in Europe are decidedly better than they were in the winter of 1923-24," Colonel Ayres declared. "The people are buying now, whereas in 1924 you would see people look at goods, shake their heads and walk away, unable to meet the price."

Ayres was a delegate to the American Legion convention in Paris, and afterward became a member of the "Commanders' Tour," a group of Legion officers which was received officially by heads of several European governments.

"The one question asked me on every hand was 'What is the secret of American prosperity?" Ayres said. "I replied that it was a fortunate circumstance that America possessed almost unexploited natural resources and a surplus of credit at the same time.' "

Ayres said he noticed a wide difference of opinion in New York banking circles regarding the future of the securities market.

"Some believe the bull market will predominate," he declared, "others feel that a bear market will soon be upon us. In all my experience I have never seen such conflicting views by men capable of perfectly good judgment. This probably explains the market's ability to recuperate immediately following reactions."

A NEW CONTRAPTION

An old lady who lived in the back country and seldom visited the city saw, for the first time, a street car running along.

"Well, I never!" she exclaimed. "I've seen 'em going with horses, and I've seen 'em going with steam, but I never thought to see 'em going with a fishing-rod."

Suppose the radio wave does travel more slowly than light. It gets there just the same.

Beer And Spirits Lose Prestige In England, Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Beer is going out of fashion judging from the official returns with regard to the quantity consumed in this country.

Whereas before the war an average of three barrels of beer per head was durnk during the course of a year the amount is now only two.

The quantity of spirits has decreased even more considerably. The reduction amounts to as much as 60 per cent.

Wine on the other hand is evidently increasing in public favor for the latest returns show an increase of 50 per cent in the quantity consumed as compared with the year before the war.

Wine, 1,764,573 gallons more.

Last year also showed a decrease in the quantity of beer and spirits consumed when compared with the preceding year and a similar increase in the quantity of wine.

A SMART LAD

A little Scotch lad was watching his grandmother packing his school lunch. Suddenly he looked up into the old lady's face and asked:

"Grandmother, dinna yer specs magnify?"

"A little, my child," she answered.

"Aweel, then," said the lad, "I wad juist like if ye wad tak' them aff when ye're packin' my loonch."

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. "Electricity!--- The Foe of Drudgery"

Says Mrs. John D. Sherman
President, General Federation of Women's Clubs

"Electrically equipped homes mean happier and more healthful homes. The cost of electrically operated labor-reduction devices is offset many times by the saving, the increased efficiency, the protection to health and the contribution to the general well-being of the family of such devices."

THE constructive efforts of the forward-looking electric power companies of the United States have released an ever-increasing number of women from the exacting duties of the household to more congenial and interesting pursuits of life.

Every new electrical invention finds an abundance of power ready to serve it. Through the enterprise of these companies, inspired by individual initiative, electric power plants and service facilities are being constructed five years in advance of consumer demand. Since 1900, the capacity of these plants has been doubled every five years.

Keenly alert to their social obligations, these electric power companies have not been content to rest on the expansion of their facilities.

The most expert, highly skilled and highly trained technical personnel in the whole field of industry is working for the betterment of electrical service and the reduction of its cost.

As a result of this sense of trusteeship, the average home today enjoys the comforts and conveniences of electricity at a cost of only a few cents per day.

Operating under the American principle of individual initiative, and working in the interests of the public, these specialists in science, engineering, finance and administration constitute one of society's greatest forces in the promotion of a freer, more enlightened and abundant life.

In the continued support of this principle lies America's assurance of all that makes for progress, prosperity and cultural opportunity.

Britain Plans New Attempts At Air Records

Continues Efforts For Achieving Aviation Fame; Experts Make Tests

It Is Believed Webster Can Set New Mark Above 300 Miles Per Hour

By J. K. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Continuing her efforts to achieve fame in the air, Great Britain is planning several new attempts to break the existing aeroplane, speed and height, records.

Piloting a "Bristol Bulldog" aeroplane, the latest of its type in England, driven by a supercharged Bristol Jupiter air-cooled engine, Captain C. Uwins, test pilot to the Bristol Aviation Company, will make an attempt within the next month to fly to a height of eight miles, thus breaking the world's height record for aeroplanes, and attaining a greater altitude than has ever been reached by man.

Special Heated Clothing.

Owing to the intense cold eight miles above the earth—many degrees below zero—he will wear special electrically-heated clothing. A new experiment to be tried for the first time. Oxygen will be carried and fed to him through a mask. If he reaches anywhere the height he hopes to achieve, the air will be so rarefied that it will be impossible to breathe it without artificial aids.

A French war-ace, Sadi Lecointe, holds the present world's all classes altitude record, which is 36,220 feet. Captain Uwins, following recent tests, is confident he can reach 40,000 feet.

An attempt will also be made in the "light aeroplane" class to beat the record of 22,000 feet, recently set up by the German pilot Baumer. On a practice flight in the early part of October, an English aviator piloting a "Tiger Moth" light aeroplane reached 18,000 feet in 14½ minutes.

For Speed Attempt.

Preparations are nearly completed at the Calshot Seaplane Base for Flight Lieut. Webster, the winner of the Schneider cup at Venice last September, to attack the world's speed record of 277.8 miles an hour, held by another French pilot.

During his flight around the Schneider course, Webster's speed was over four miles an hour greater, but to establish a world's record the aeroplane has to be timed twice in each direction over a straight course of three kilometres. It is believed Webster can gain over 300 miles an hour over a straight course.

Seek Way To Revive Persons Who Have Been Electrocuted

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 11.—Prof. J. C. Wiggers, head of the department of physiology at Western Reserve university, and one of the foremost authorities in the country on the action and peculiarities of the human heart, is seeking a method by which it will be possible to resuscitate persons who have been "killed" by electric shock.

A special fund has been set aside for Prof. Wiggers' research and he is now perfecting apparatus with which he hopes to make motion pictures of heart beats.

Prof. Wiggers explained that an electric shock may cause death in either of two ways. Death may result from cessation of respiration or of the heart action, induced by the shock. In cases where breathing is stopped, the victim may be revived with a pulmotor or artificial respiration but science has not yet discovered a means for causing the heart to resume beating, once it has come to a standstill.

If he can secure motion pictures of the heart action, Prof. Wiggers will be enabled to make a careful, detailed study of the muscular activity involved, on the basis of which he hopes to find a solution to the problem. Such a remedy might also revive persons who have "died" of a sudden heart attack, he believes.

U. S. Money Gifts Aid To Science In Europe

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 11.—American generosity exerts a notable influence on science in Europe. An important role in the development of practical scientific projects across the Atlantic is being played by sizable American money donations toward the establishment of foundations and study fellowships.

These were the opinions expressed by Prof. C. A. Kafoid of the University of California department of zoology.

Money for scientific purposes, according to Dr. Kafoid is greatly in demand in European countries because the war has diverted the attentions of European scientists from theoretical to practical aspets of science.

Scots Forsake Whisky Are Drinking Beer

(International News Service)

GLASGOW, Nov. 11.—Scotsmen are forsaking whiskey, which is regarded as their national beverage, and are taking to beer, the Englishmen's drink.

Official figures show that for some time in Glasgow and elsewhere there has been a steady decrease in the number of "drunks" requiring police attention. This the "drys" hail as a victory for their cause.

On the other hand the "wets" declare the decrease is not due to a growing tendency towards abstinence, but to the high duty on whiskey, which has increased the consumption of beer and other liquors.

OUR JUNIOR CITIZENS

By Education Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs

TALKING THINGS OVER WITH THE TEACHER OR PRINCIPAL

No subject presents itself at this time which seems more appropriate to Education week or which more concerns all persons bearing responsibility for children than the one stated above.

A recent discussion conducted by the Woman's club on "College Entrance", in which points of view of college, high school and preparatory school were given, showed clearly that much of the failure on the part of young people to gain admission to college as well as to make good after they have been admitted is the result of failure on the part of parents to become interested enough to go over the matter with the school principal so that the proper course might be selected to fit the requirements of the chosen college.

But a large proportion of our young people are not going to college for this very reason—the limited advantages of education which they will have—it becomes even more important that their courses of study be planned to most fully prepare each one for the work for which he or she is respectively endowed.

One of the chief aims of the junior high school is to guide the young people in choosing the work for which they seem individually fitted, and surely such a decision requires the counsel of the home with the school.

In an address made by Dr. Green a few evenings since, he strongly urged the cooperation of parents and invited frequent visits to the schools. Why not make this year's observance of Education week a fruitful one by a speedy acceptance of this invitation?

Rockefeller Buys Japanese Screen

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Nov. 11.—One of the two famous Soami Japanese screens, in the possession of the Murai family of bankers for generations, has been sold to John D. Rockefeller Jr. The other, also owned by the Murais, has been turned over to Prince Chichibu, heir-apparent to the throne.

The Murai family has been proud of its Japanese art treasures for generations. But the Murai bank crashed in the recent panic, and the head of the family died suddenly. All his possessions were sold to satisfy the creditors.

Mr. Rockefeller saw and admired the Soami screen on his visit to Japan in 1922. At that time, the Murai family would not consider a sale. But when the treasures were put up at auction this fall, a Tokyo art dealer bought the screen in behalf of Mr. Rockefeller, paying a reported price of $15,000.

Colo. Coal Strike Aids Oklahoma Oil

(International News Service)

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 11.—The strike in the coal fields of Colorado has opened a new outlet for Oklahoma Petroleum products. Smelter mills and other industrial plants at Pueblo and other adjacent places are substituting fuel oil for coal, according to officials of oil companies in Oklahoma.

A natural gas pipeline is being constructed from the Panhandle to Colorado, but it will be late in 1928 before this project is completed.

It is indicated the Colorado companies, including the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, about which much of the strike centers, may continue to consume a great deal of petroleum from Oklahoma, and in the event a favorable settlement cannot be reached, may turn exclusively to its use.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Surely, I believe that Armistice day should be celebrated as any other holiday is celebrated. And it should be even more so, for it commmorates something which still is fresh in the minds of the American people. It commemorates the close of a struggle for democracy—for world democracy.

Already one can see that it won't be long until Christmas is here again. This afternoon I noticed advertising of the fact, and when one walks up town, one sees that all of the stores are bringing their Christmas goods into more prominent places.

But I for one will not be sorry. Christmas seems to be about the happiest time of the year, for everyone is more cheerful. I wonder if it is not because they are thinking a little about the other fellow?

Americans Urging Speed In Building Embassy In Tokyo

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Nov. 11.—American residents in Tokyo, growing impatient over the long delay in starting construction of the American embassy in Japan, have passed resolutions through the American Association, ? that the work be started at once.

ground has been bought, appropriations made, but the congressional committee has been slow in approving the architect's plans. So the site of the old embassy is still an unsightly ruin, the result of the earthquake in 1923, while fine new buildings have gone up all around.

A Better Policy

We buy used cars for re-sale. We determine their value and buy them for what they are worth or not at all.

In turn we inspect them in our service station and do everything mechanically possible to put them in good running order.

STEEL ORDERS MAKE BIG GAIN

U. S. Corporation Bookings Gain 192,927 Tons Report Shows

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation on October 31 amounted to 3,341,040 tons, an increase of 192,927 tons compared with the month before.

The surprisingly large gain in tonnage was attributed to substantial orders for steel rails, in combination with fairly good buying of pipe by oil companies, although incoming business in other lines was under the month's shipments.

The total of 3,341,404 tons was the largest since April 30, when unfilled orders aggregated 3,456,132 tons. The smallest tonnage in years was reported in May—3,050,941 tons.

Operations of the corporation's subsidiaries have been increasing steadily for several weeks, which the trade interprets as a reflection of improved demand, giving the impression that November should show a future gain in bookings. The operating rate is now around 68 per cent of capacity, a rise of about 4 per cent in the last month.

Cross Eyes Can Be Straightened

For over a quarter of a century I've been devoting my life to straightening cross eyes. I have straightened thousands that other doctors said were hopeless.

I have happy, straight-eyed friends, and successful cases all over the world. The best proof of my claims is the work I have done. That is the reason I print names of my successful cases.

Cross eyes are a handicap—no one except a cross-eyed person knows how great a handicap they are. And cross eyes often lead to blindness. Why take a chance with blindness?—why endure the handicap of cross eyes when so easy and so sure a way of straightening them is offered to you? Glasses often help, temporarily, but they too often fail to produce permanent results.

Write to or call on any of the people whose names I give below—let them convince you of the wonderful results of my work. Then write to me and I will arrange a free trip for you to Chicago.

Masons To Unveil Memorial Tablet

(International News Service)

ELIZABETH, Pa., Nov. 11. — The granite memorial to Pennsylvania members of the Masonic order will be unveiled here this afternoon at the Masonic Home of Pennsylvania, with fitting ceremonies.

The memorial, a gift of the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge and donated to the home by the Robert Burns Lodge No. 464, of Harrisburg, will be unveiled by Miss Frances D. America's Greatest Shakespearean Exponents Coming Here, Nov. 23

Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hamper in "The Merchant of Venice," Wednesday, Nov. 23.

There are no more gifted or popular players on the American stage than Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hamper and their appearance in the various cities of the United States is always a matter of supreme interest to playgoers. Their coming engagement at the Scottish Rite auditorium Wednesday, November 23rd, will give their many admirers an opportunity to see them at their best in "The Merchant of Venice". Mr. Mantell has for years enjoyed the distinction in the estimation of the leading critics of the country, of giving equally as great a characterization of "Shylock" as the American stage has known. As "Portia", Miss Hamper is credited with giving an exceptionally fine performance and the remaining members of the large cast are said to appear to excellent advantage. Complete scenic production and correct period costumes are carried as is also the specially written music. This will be the only presentation of a Shakespearean play here this season.

City Librarian Asks How Many Of Authors Could Qualify Here?

"Do you know how many authors, American or European, could qualify as never having written an unclean book?" is the question asked by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian of the New Castle public library.

"Our own Booth Tarkington has been paid that compliment by William Lyon Phelps, professor of English literature at Yale college, and author of a number of books on literature in general, in his reading course, Twentieth Century American Novels, which is now available at the public library.

"In this booklet of but 28 pages, Mr. Phelps introduces a few of the outstanding American novelists, who write not in studied imitation of European standards, but with a national consciousness that comes directly from the soil of America.

"Our women novelists, Edith Wharton, Anne Douglas Sedgwick, Dorothy Canfield, Willa Cather, Zona Gale and Edna Ferber, are discussed, and certain of their books are recommended for reading. Mr. Phelps also includes the best of the novels by Booth Tarkington, Sinclair Lewis and Joseph Hergishheimer.

"The most significant of the books of today are included in this little survey, and some of the most popular writers of America are mentioned so that readers of all ages can find something to interest them.

"Mr. Phelps' book is included in the Reading With a Purpose Series which is being published by the American Library association, and includes Discussions on English Literature, The Poetry of Our Own Times, The Modern Essay, and The Modern Drama."

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P STEWART

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Secretary William M. Jardine again denies that he's going to resign—right away.

He says he intends to stay on the job through the next session of congress anyway, and it sounds probable. Putative father, as he is, of the compromise farm relief plan with which the administration hopes to satisfy the corn belt this coming winter, it would be a mean trick in him to quit now, virtually repudiating the poor thing just at a time when it most needs the countenance of his recognition and his name.

What with the attempt to replace so vital an organ as its equilization fee by the doubtful substitution of a revolving fund, it's a sickly infant at best. Darn few vicissitudes would settle its hash for good.

* * *

However, if Secretary Jardine had known, two and a half years ago, some of the things he must know today, we're at liberty to wonder if ever he'd have been minister of agriculture at all.

Only a few days after he was sworn in, I had a talk with him.

Br'er Jardine has a vein of poetry running through him. He said he was aware the farmers were up against it. Yet, he pointed out, they have their compensations. They live close to nature. The greenery all around 'em is their greenery. The new-mown smells are their smells. The meadowlark overhead is their lark. When it snows, in winter, it's their snow.

* * *

This kind of stuff, the newly-appointed secretary remarked, has a value that can't be reckoned in cash, and he intimated that he had an idea it might be possible to make the farmers see it, and include it in their inventories.

I distinctly recall that I questioned this in my own mind.

Even if the farmers did as the secretary recommended, I couldn't see how they were going to apply it on their mortgages.

Senators from some of the western states, like Nye and Frazier, Norris, Brookhart and Shipstead, have since told me that they couldn't solve this problem either, and now they say they're convinced the reason was that nobody could solve it—it was a puzzle with no answer at all.

* * *

Jardine simply was asked to perform the impossible, and he didn't perform it.

In a way, for an agriculturist who has spent nearly his whole life as a college professor, he's done pretty well. If his administration hasn't been a phenomenal success, neither has it been a calamitous failure.

No critic denies that he has tried hard.

* * *

When he was appointed, two courses were open to him, in order to go down in history as the greatest man who ever held his portfolio.

1. Actually to make agriculture prosper like the green bay tree.

2. To play such slick politics that the farmers would acclaim him, regardless of concrete results.

He certainly hasn't filled prescription No. 1, perhaps because it was beyond human power, under existing conditions. Not being anything of a politician, he hasn't filled prescription No. 2.

And yet, though there's been a persistent undercurrent of grumbling, nobody's demanding that he be brought out and shot at sunrise, which is saying quite a little, considering the corn belt's general frame of mind.

* * *

As Jardine's successors, ex-Senator Dixon of Montana, ex-Governor Carey of Wyoming and Secretary Mohler of the Kansas Board of Agriculture are chiefly suggested.

Two Are Facing Charge Of Murder

Both Eva Hinton and her husband, Pete Hinton, were held for court on murder charges growing out of the killing of Roland Russell at the Hinton home in New Geneva. It was testified before a coroner's inquest this afternoon that while Russell and Hinton were engaged in a knife battle on the floor, Mrs. Hinton, fearing her husband would be worsted, drew a revolver and killed Russell. All parties are negroes.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

EVOLUTION OF LAUGHTER . . .

Showing how man has advanced in one way at least. Centuries ago physical deformity was laughed at. A cripple was the butt of a joke. Nobody today laughs at a cripple. But it is interesting to note how we have clung to the idea. We laugh when a man falls down stairs in a show—or on the ice, for that matter, so long as he isn't seriously hurt. We laugh when a man is humiliated by the wind which blows off his hat. We still laugh at discomfiture. That is a step beyond laughing at natural infirmities. As man becomes more civilized he will not even laugh at temporary misfortune. The evolution of man's good nature is the evolution of his laughter.

COLLECTING DIMES

Did you ever try dime-collecting? A year ago an Iowa woman started out to make ninety cents to do a dollar's work. The other dime she put in a bank. The game appealed to her. It was easy. Her enthusiasm grew. At the end of the year she had saved 1,800 dimes. That's a good game, and that's thrift.

Ibsen, very thoughful Norwegian, once said that it is a pity that great men can never really have friends. Even men as wise as Ibsen can be wrong. There is no greatness which is so great that there is no place for friendship. There are men who are intellectually so much above the most of their fellows that they are out of sympathy with many ideas that are commonly accepted. But the greatest men can make the truest friends.

THE WAY OF MOTHERS

A very young man with bell-bottomed trousers and oily hair confessed in a certain city police court the other day that he had struck his mother, after quarreling with her. After the judge had properly sentenced him to jail, the plea of the lad's mother saved him from a cell. There was quite a story about this incident in the newspapers. Strange that there should have been, for there was nothing so unusual about it. A thousand mothers have plead for a thousand sons who have wronged them. A thousand mothers will do it again. It is love without hope of reward. Somebody has said that it is the way of life. It is not the way of life but it is the way of mothers.

Two Are Jailed Following Crash Of Automobiles

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 11.—Edward B. Wise, aged 45, and Mrs. Alberta Small of Cheswick, are in the Butler county jail, under charges which resulted from an automobile accident near Unionville last night, when the car driven by Wise crashed into the automobile of Leo McClory of Carrick.

At a hearing before Alderman C. G. Phillips, Mrs. Small was fined $10 and costs on the charge of being intoxicated and was returned to jail until payment is made. Wise entered a plea of guilty to being intoxicated, and also to a charge by County Detective Newton V. Loucks, that he was transporting intoxicating liquor. In default of $2,000 bail Wise was recommitted to the county jail.

Plant Sunfish In Montgomery Dam

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 11.—The Jackson Field and Stream Club of Jackson Center are responsible for the planting of three cans of sunfish in the Montgomery dam near Grove City this week.

In care of Benton McConnel the club is also responsible for the release of four Iowa coons of one year in age just as soon as the season closes on them.

Man Killed When Ditch Caves In, Another Injured

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Samuel Lunn, 40, was killed and Ray Spangler, 42, was injured, probably fatally yesterday afternoon when a sewer excavation here, in which they were placing tile caved in.

Both men were buried under several feet of earth. Spangler was removed in 15 minutes and revived by firemen using artificial respiration. Internal injuries, however, may cause his death, it was said at Buhl hospital.

Lunn's body was not recovered for 30 minutes. He was badly crushed about the chest and head. A pulmotor was used in an effort to revive him.

Lunn is a member of the firm of Lunn Bros., which was building the sewer for the city. Spangler was an employe. They were the only men in the excavation at the time of the cave-in.

School Reports Sent To Capitol

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 11.—The finance reports of the 45 school districts in Mercer county have all been filled out and returned to Harrisburg for the school year ending July 1, 1927, reports Assistant Superintendent of Schools W. M. Johnson today.

The reports show that the school districts of the county are all in a very flourishing condition.

The reports cover the entire work of the year and are said to be quite minute in detail.

Grove City Schools Get Half Holiday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 11.—Grove City public schools were dismissed at noon today, Nov. 11, in honor of Armistice Day, and the pupils given a half holiday.

According to action of the board of education, other holidays for the year are as follows: Thanksgiving Day, November 25; Christmas holidays from December 23 to January 2. Also Good Friday will be observed as a holiday.

Hunter May Die As A Result Of Pecular Accident

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 11.—Dan Phillips, former Greene county sheriff and one of its widely known and popular citizens, was probably fatally wounded while hunting on the Ingram White farm, six miles south of here, on Smith creek. George Peterson of Waynesburg, a companion of Phillips, tossed an apple to him. Phillips, who was sitting under a tree thrust a shotgun into the air to deflect the apple, which had been thrown over his head.

It is believed the apple struck the trigger and caused the weapon to be discharged. The contents of the shot tore a gaping wound in his right side and took a backward course, lodging near the liver. Phillips, who has been serving as chief of police at Chartiers Southern, Greene county, is in the Waynesburg hospital in a dying condition.

Gives Variety

After your beef pot roast has thoroughly browned on both sides, season well and add two good-sized onions and one-half cup pineapple juice and two cups water. Let cook until very tender. There is a perfectly delicious taste to this pot roast gravy.

County Scout Round-Up Is Set For December 2

Announcement is made today of dates set and other important matters which were arranged at a recent meeting of the Scoutleaders' club of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America.

The county roundup will now be held December 2 at the Carnegie auditorium. The events will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. It is expected that every troop under the Lawrence county council will be represented in the various events.

During the course of the meeting several subjects came up for discussion, including the re-registration of troops, the troop budget plan, and the camp fund plan. Details were given in regards to the recruit-free camp contest. This contest provides free camping to any boy who brings into scouting, new boys or an entire new troop. Many of the boys are interested and are working hard to make themselves eligible for the valuable prize. It was also decided that inter-troop contests are to be held this winter. Further details will be announced later in regard to this activity.

The new Boy's Life plan was also discussed. By means of this plan boys are given the opportunity of receiving this worthy scout magazine at reasonable rates which is beneficial because of the desire of all boys to possess this good literature.

A special service troop is to be organized under the leadership of Louis B. Round in the very near future. This work is something new to Lawrence county scouts but from all indications it will be successful. It was voted by the members of the club present to offer special thanks to Mr. Round for his interest.

Special thanks were also extended to William G. Ayers for his interest in the father and scout banquet held recently by the council and which was one of the most successful affairs ever held here. The scouts were also extended thanks for their splendid work performed at the Sunday school convention.

Arrangements were started for the annual marathon race of the scouts. Elimination meets will be held and in the final both New Castle and Ellwood scouts will be represented. The race will be run on the road between New Castle and Ellwood.

A committee was appointed for the scoutleaders' Christmas party as follows: John E. Dye, scout commissioner; Earle K. Herbert, Rev. M. J. Scripture nad Irwin Ropp. Plans have already been worked out so that this affair will be a greater success than ever before.

A new committee has also been appointed to lay out the treasure hunt trails weekly. This committee consists of J. Lee Calahan, scout executive; Howard Bott, Rev. M. J. Scriptire and J. Thomas.

Due to the large attendance of scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and commissioners, this meeting was the best ever held by the club. All present were interested and enthusiastic in all subjects discussed. The time of the next meeting will be announced later.

Army Of Mobilized Men Start Work Of Repairing Flooded Districts

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Man-power was mobilized today to begin the stupendous task of repairing the destruction caused by the New England floods.

Armistice Day was dedicated in flood-swept Vermont to the work of reconstruction. Every able-bodied man in President Coolidge's home State turned out for a day of toil, broken only by a two-minute pause at 11 a. m., for silent tribute to the World War dead.

Jobs are waiting for any men willing to work in Vermont. Unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Railroads, power companies, road builders and others were hiring an "army of jobless" in Bellows Falls.

Youthful Negro In Hanged Today

Plan Changes In State Highway Organization

Announcement Made Of Projected Reorganization In January

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 11.—Plans for a complete reorganization of the Department of Highways field forces are complete today and will become effective January 1.

Under the new plan the present 15 engineering districts will be entirely abolished and instead of four divisions covering the entire state, it will be divided into eight.

Although there will be no reduction of the engineering personnel, it is estimated that the proposed plan, because of reduced office rental, overhead and clerical duplication, will result in a saving of $1,000,000 in the next four years.

The reduction and co-ordination now worked out was possible, officials said, because practically all the primary highway and much of the secondary systems, have been completed. The construction already accomplished has made possible supervision over a much larger district.

The present maintenance organization, which consists of 52 maintenance superintendents, will not be changed by the proposed reorganization.

Divisions as proposed will include:

Division No. 1 headquarters at Franklin, comprising Armstrong, Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Lawrence, Mercer, Warren and Venango counties. T. C. Frame, Franklin, in charge.

Division No. 2 headquarters at Clearfield, comprising Cameron, Center, Clearfield, Clinton, Elk, Indiana, Jefferson and McKean counties. The division engineer will be S. W. Jackson.

The assistant engineer in charge of construction will be J. H. Robinson, now stationed at New Castle.

Division No. 3 headquarters at Williamsport, comprising Bradford, Columbia, Lycoming, Montour, Northumberland, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Tioga and Union counties. Division engineer, J. S. Ritchey.

Division No. 4 headquarters at Scranton, comprising Carbon, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Northampton, Pike, Schuylkill, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming counties. Division engineer, C. H. Buckius, now stationed at Allentown.

Division No. 5 headquarters at Pittsburgh, comprising Allegheny, Beaver, Fayette, Greene, Washington and Westmoreland counties. Division engineer, J. L. Herber.

Division No. 6 headquarters at Hollidaysburg, comprising Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Mifflin and Somerset counties. Division engineer, W. D. Meyers.

Division No. 7 headquarters at Harrisburg, comprises Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry and York counties. Division engineer, S. P. Longstreet, now stationed at Lancaster.

Division No. 8 headquarters at Philadelphia, will comprise Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties. Division engineer, D. C. Stackpole.

American Films Steal Empire From British, Declares London Buyer

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"American films have stolen our empire from us" declares E. M. Woolf, the biggest film buyer in Britain. "We can only sell a picture for the Canadian market in America and an American firm controls the distribution of films in Australia.

"If British films are to make good they will have to be of a more robust type than they've been lately also the future success of the British films lie in the framing of an agreement between European and British producers.'

Asked why there were no really British film stars or producers he remarked:

"As soon as we discover a brilliant star or producer, America snaps them up. We can afford to make stars, but we can't afford to keep them. That's the trouble."

Council Opens Bids For City Incinerator Plant

Many Applications Received For Position Of Borough Manager Here

Ordinance To Be Prepared For Grading And Lining Of Wampum Avenue

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—About the most important measure taken at the rather brief meeting of the members of the borough council which convened in regular monthly session Thursday evening in the city building, was the opening of the bids on the erection of a garbage incinerator to be built by the city, which will replace the worn-out plant which now stands. There were five bids which read as follows: Double Burner, Inc., of Oakmont, Pa., $31,500; bid of $65,000 with alternate bid of $62,000 from the Carrier & Incinerator Corp.; Huylor Engineering company of Brooklyn, $48,-000 with alternate of $42,000; The Nye Odorless Crematory company, $39,100, and the Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel company, $39,300. The above bids were referred to members of the street committee for further analysis and investigation.

About 15 applications have been received for the position of borough manager from all parts of the United States, particularly the southern locations. Action on these was deferred until a further date.

Members of the street committee made a report on the unpaved section of Wampum avenue east of the Fifth street bridge, and showed blue-prints of the proposed grading, etc. An ordinance will be prepared authorizing a grade line to be established east on Wampum avenue.

A bill for $44.50 was received from the Pearson Brick company of New Castle for extra work done on the comfort station which was erected recently on Sixth street. The bill was referred to the rules and regulations committee.

Petitions.

Property owners of fourth ward petitioned council to lay a sidewalk on one side of First avenue. This petition was tabled.

Eleven property owners of South Ellwood Heights petitioned for another fire hydrant to be placed at the corner of Beachwood boulevard. There is only one hydrant in this location, and it is more than 1,000 feet away from some of the dwellings, and not considered adequate fire protection. This matter was referred to the members of the fire and water committee with power to act.

Permission was requested to construct a driveway across the property line at 632 Line avenue. This was placed in the hands of the street committee.

A petition was received from property owners of Spring avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets asking council to reconsider action taken at the last meeting regarding the placing of "No Parking" signs on this street. This petition was granted unanimously.

Ordinances.

That a sanitary sewer be placed on View street from Hazel to Orchards, entire cost of which will be assesed on the abutting property owners. This ordinance was passed on first and final reading by suspension of council rules. Members of the sewer committee and borough engineer will ask for bids on same.

Fire Report.

One fire during the month of October, damages $400. Firemen's services esitmated at $36.

Chief of Police N. J. Teater reported the following: Number of arrests during the month of October, 46; discharges, 10; fines, 9; forfeits, 30. Total fines and forfeits, $441.15. The above reports were received and placed on file.

Rotarians Hear Attorney Brown

Next Week's Meeting To Be Ladies Night, With Special Program Presented

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Thirty-two members of the Rotary club had the pleasure of hearing Attorney Orville Brown of New Castle give an interesting Armistice talk at the occasion of the regular weekly dinner-meeting which took place Thursday evening in the Presbyterian church.

Attorney Brown told something of his trip aboard, and told interesting facts concerning the European people and their activities. His talk was well given, and thoroughly enjoyed.

Next Thursday the night will be turned over to the Ladies, and special programs have been arranged for the occasion.

Entertains In Honor Of Niece

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—In honor of her niece, Miss Margaret Nye's birthday anniversary, Mrs. Margaret Ross of Glen avenue entertained several of the young set at her home last evening.

The group was composed of girl scouts in Margaret's Hut at the Scout Camp this summer, with two special guests, Josephine Gardner and Tommie Jones. Games and contests formed the evening's diversion. The guest of honor received many lovely gifts in honor of the occasion, and the successful evening concluded appropriately with delicious refreshments, and the traditional birthday cake. Mrs. Ross was assisted in serving by Miss Irene Ross and Mrs. Howard Jones.

Enjoying the event were Misses Dorothy Stinson, Betty Nickum, Virginia McGlincy and Esther Brenneman.

Two Playlets Are Given By Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11. — Two playlets, humerous in character, were presented by members of Class 19 of the Bell Memorial church Thursday evening in the auditorium of the church. A nice sum was netted which will be turned into the Building Fund.

One, "Tom's Arrival" was enacted by Mrs. Carl McCandless, Mrs. Floyd Duncan and Mrs. Emmet Burnes. The characters were well portrayed and the piece was highly enjoyed. The other playlet "How He Popped the Question" was a dialogue between Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. Agnes Brown and was equally enjoyed.

A PROBLEM FOR SHERLOCK HOLMES

For 40 years, historians, artists and interior decorators of New England have been sleuthing for some trace of "R. Porter" and "S. T. Porter." Scores of mural paintings in old colonial houses in New England are signed "R. Porter and S. T. Porter." But that is all that is known of the mysterious artist. It is believed they worked in the eighteen-thirties. Photos show the old Dr. Francis Howe home in Westwood, Mass., and a mural painting along its staircase.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Census Of 1870

THE CENSUS OF 1870 SHOWED THE POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES TO BE 38,558,371. OF THIS NUMBER, A LITTLE MORE THAN ONE-FIFTH WERE LIVING IN THE CITIES.

IN 1790, THE YEAR OF THE FIRST CENSUS, THE POPULATION HAD NUMBERED ABOUT FOUR MILLION. AT THAT TIME THE GREAT MAJORITY OF PEOPLE LIVED ON FARMS AND IN SMALL VILLAGES, AND ONLY FOUR PERSONS OUT OF A HUNDRED WERE CITY DWELLERS.

THE RAPID GROWTH OF OUR POPULATION HAD BEEN HELPED BY A STEADY STREAM OF IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE. EVEN DURING THE EVENTFUL YEARS OF OUR GREAT CIVIL WAR (1861-1865), MORE THAN 600,000 FOREIGNERS CAME TO SETTLE IN AMERICA.

MORE IMMIGRANTS HAVE BEEN ATTRACTED TO THE UNITED STATES THAN TO ANY OTHER LAND. AMERICA IS OFTEN LIKENED TO A GREAT MELTING POT, WHERE IMMIGRANTS FROM MANY NATIONS BECOME ONE PEOPLE, UNITED IN PURPOSE AND PATRIOTISM.

NEW CASTLE-ERIE EAST READY FOR GAME

Lake City Eleven Will Test Locals

New Castle High Football Team Awaits Clash With Erie East; Lake Erie Eleven Reported Primed For Victory Over Red And Black; Coach Bridenbaugh Says Team In Fine Condition; Dry Field Indicated With Fair Weather Here; Battle Should Draw Largest Crowd Of Year To Ben Franklin Field; Booster Day Features Planned; Starting Time 3:30 O'clock

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle high football team will be called on to do more than play ordinary straight football to defeat Erie East high here on Saturday afternoon. According to rumors being passed around via the grapevine circuit the Lake Erie team may more than match the cleverness of the locals.

At 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Ben Franklin high field when the two school boy teams sally forth to play football, the concrete stands and bleachers will be jammed to capacity strength, many thousand from New Castle and several hundred from Erie will no doubt give the turnstiles a whirl in their mad rush to view the combat.

There is double interest in the gridiron contest that is but a few hours away First of all there is the game itself, and then the 'New Castle Day" boosters will be out in force to pay tribute to the team in their annual ceremony

All that remains to make the "Circus" complete is a corking good exhibition of football and unless unforseen developments occur the conflict tomorrow is going to be highly pleasing New Castle high has a 'crackerjack" outfit this year and up in the northwestern section of the state the folks will tell you that Erie East is supporting a team that ranks a little above the average Anyway by nightfall Saturday the answer should be in the basket.

Erie Teams Good.

Remindful of the fact that any Erie school boy team is hard to beat, the New Castle high gridders have spent many trying hours this week at Franklin high field in preparation for the game. The hope being expressed in loud terms is for a dry field. New Castle high on a dry field will more than match anything that the Erie team may have.

Both teams boast of several backfield stars and the duel here tomorrow is all the more enlivened by the announcement that in Trambley the visitors will show a player who has proven a triple threat this year in all of the games played by his school. If New Castle hopes to win they must stop this Valery Trambley say the wise sages of Erie, and the same holds true in the case of Paul Reider who is just as much in evidence on the New Castle squad.

Just what kind of a game Coach Anderson will uncover here is not known, but this much is certain that the Lake City crew will be loaded to death with a forward passing attack. New Castle will depend on Tommy Harper, the expert line puncher, to add the necessary yardage to their tally, and also on Reider and Turk to skirt the ends.

Certain it is to be a grid game in which every move will have a definite meaning, "breaks" may also play a prominent part in the contest and then again straight football may win the game, no one can never tell what to expect when witnessing football. This much is known, however, that New Castle high is not going to have one of those walk-away games, I would almost gamble on that score.

Defeated In 1925.

True enough it is that Erie East was given a sound trouncing here on Thanksgiving Day in 1925, but that was two years ago and lots can happen in that length of time. Erie is not likely to forget the drubbing handed them by the powerful red and black team of two years ago, and this will add all the more fuel to the fire. They figure at Erie East high that the time is ripe to wipe out that defeat.

As to the weight on the line and backfield the New Castle team is expected to have slight advantage over the invaders, and this may or may not have something to do with the result, only time alone can prove this. What the Erie team lacks in weight they will no doubt make up for in fighting spirit, which is only characteristic of an Erie eleven.

The Reider-Trambley ground gaining duel about to be enacted will be mighty interesting, as will the match between the New Castle and Erie linemen, and taking the game all-in-all the fans are due for a rare scholastic treat.

Neither coach has announced any definite lineups, but it is the writer's guess that the following teams will take the field tomorrow for the kick-off:—

New Castle		Erie East
Ostrosky	L E	Ghise
Cuba	L T	Komora
DiCarbo	L G	Pratzel
Thomas	C	Stano
Mooney	R G	Daley
Alexander	R T	Emling
Craft	R E	Roman
Reider	Q B	Rose
Turk	L H	Trambley
Richards	R H	Gabe
Harper	F B	Meyer

Volley Ball Teams To Play Tonight

The following Buckeye girls will report at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock: E. Strobel, R. Strobel, M. DeLillio, E. DeLillio, E. Hill, J. Carbone, E. Pearl and M. Bailey. The boys game will start at the conclusion of the preliminary contest. There is no admission charged to these games. Walter E. Kirker will officiate.

Long, long ago, children, the hem of a cook's skirt could be used to wipe perspiration from her honest brow.

Rocco-Seifert Fight Is Off

Emmett Rocco and Sandy Seifert will not fight tonight at Youngstown, Seifert's manager having called off the 12-round battle late yesterday. Jimmie Bronson, manager of the Pittsburgh fighter, told Promoter Al Zill that he could not get the blonde in the physical condition necessary to carry on a stiff fight with Rocco and asked that the bout be held at a later date.

No Advance In Price For Grid Game Saturday

There will be no advance in price of admission to the New Castle-Erie East game Saturday, said Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today. The admission is still 50 cents.

It has been rumored throughout the city that the prices will be advanced owing to "New Castle Day" and the many features to adorn the program, but there is no foundation to this report.

Seeks Dismissal Of Kearns' Suit Against Dempsey

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 11.—Counsel for Jack Dempsey will appear before United States Circuit Court Judge John Rellstabb, here today to motion for dismissal of the suit brought against Dempsey by Jack Kearns, his former manager for $330,000 which Kearns claims is due him as commission.

Here And There In Sports' Land

By ED. FRITZ

Bruce Caldwell will not play for Yale against Princeton Saturday, the board of conttrol late yesterday having ruled to this effect despite the courteous request of Princeton that the eligibility rule be waived for once. It was discovered that Bruce had participated in football before he entered Yale and as a result Eli will be without one of football's best stars Saturday.

Luis Firpo broke into the sport pages today with an announcement that he plans to engage Jimmie DeForest and return to the heavyweight ranks but Luis is so big and fat that he would be a mere gesture in fighting togs. Luis was never the same boy after he met Dempsey and according to those who have seen his bay window and double chin he would never be able to make the grade of physical condition.

Dick Donald promoter of the Dundee-Hudkins "flop" is credited in a statement made at Los Angeles with saying that Dundee feared Referee Blake would take the decision away from him unless he knocked out the Ace of the coast, Max Waxman, manager and Dundee have been allowed to return east pending hearing of the charges of fraudulent advertising, which virtually means according to some that the charges will be dropped.

Tech Harriers At Grove City

Tech And Grove City Cross County Teams Will Race Saturday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 11.—Preliminary to the Grove City-St. Francis football game tomorrow afternoon will be a cross-country run between the Carnegie Tech harriers and the Grove City harriers. In this meet Jim Evans, the Crimson ace, will meet some real opposition. Evans has never met a runner in a cross-country run who has pressed him. For three seasons the Erie lad has been taking part in these meets and he has never been defeated. The Carnegie Tech runners are expected to extend him to his best efforts.

The members of the Grove City high school football team, champions of Mercer county inter-scholastic teams, will be the guests of the college athletic department at the game tomorrow. Coach Joe Hartman of the high school champions is a former Grove City college athlete. He is just one more of the many athletes who have gone out from Grove City to take a leading place in the coaching profession.

Managers Will Meet On Monday

An important meeting of all city industrial league basketball managers will be held in the Y. M. C. A., Monday evening at eight o'clock.

This meeting will be held for organization and to plan for even a bigger and better season than was held last year.

Old-Timers To Play New Castle Team Saturday

"New Castle Day" Feature Arranged For Franklin Field At 2:15 O'clock

ANCIENT STARS TO CAVORT AGAIN

By "BUGS" WALTHER

The vintage of '96 will be revived at Ben Franklin High field on Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock when the New Castle High football team has agreed to tackle a team of Old Timers.

The ancient stars of the gridiron, will again don the moleskins and shoulder pads and sally forth to mortal combat. It was suggested that owing to the "New Castle Day" booster ceremonies that it would only be fitting and proper that the former High School and college stars from this town, have part.

A short game has been arranged that will precede the regular attraction. The first game will start at 2:15 o'clock when the New Castle High team will kickoff to the Old Timers. The Old Timers will be arrayed in the "full football regalia."

The roster as announced by the Old Timers consists of some of the players who originated the game at New Castle High School among them George W. Muse, Ed Logan and others. Included in the Old Timers lineup will be several New Castle boys who after graduating from the local High School entered college and made a name for themselves in gridiron circles.

Short Quarters

The quarters will be mighty short is the announcement, perhaps the old boys can stand three minute quarters, or something like that. Many of the Old Timers have not donned the football uniform since about 1900, and others more recently, but anyway they are game to the core and promise to give the New Castle High team of 1927 a real tussle.

The officials for the preliminary contest are: Referee, E. A. Fenton; Umpire, S. D. Pearson; Head Linesman, James K. Love.

The Old Timers eleven will be selected from the following: Dr. Samuel Perry, Princeton; A. L. Thayer,

SORDS POINTS

Keeping The Name Feared On The College Gridirons

There have been many famous brother combinations in football, including the Poes of Princeton, the Joneses of Yale, the Barrons of Georgie Tech and the Wendells of Harvard. Now we have Garland Grange striving to make the Grange brothers rank with the rest before the finish of his varsity career.

Garland never will be the runner that his famous brother "Red" was. Though almost as fast, he does not have that weaving pace. But he is a fine player, a bear of a defensive man. He can tackle and block and is great at snagging passes. He demonstrated his defensive as well as his offensive abilities in the game against Michigan. It was Grange who, among other things, fell on a fumbled punt and put Illinois in a position to make the first score of the game and incidentally the first touchdown scored against Michigan this year.

Zuppke uses Grange as an offensive end and a defensive halfback. He is better on the line than in the backfield, but the coach likes his ability to defend against forward passes.

Grange's fight to make the varsity was almost a discouraging one and would have discouraged a less stout-hearted boy. Several operations kept him from playing for two years, having close to 65 stitches in his shoulder. But now that he has landed he is out to keep the name of Grange a feared one on the college gridirons.

Expect Big Crowd At Pitt-Nebraska Battle Saturday

Cornhuskers Are Strong Outfit; Will Tax Pitt Panthers On Dry Field

Coach Sutherland Hopes To Have Complete Varsity Backfield In Game

By REGIS CURRAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—The belief was very prevalent in Pitt circles here today that for the third time in succession the huge Pitt stadium will team with a congregation of more than 55,000 persons, the occasion of interest being the engagement between Pittsburgh and Nebraska on Saturday.

In the meantime talk was being talked and hopes were being hoped about the forthcoming tangle. One of the most sincere wishes was expressed in a prayer for ideal football weather, in the firm belief that it would bring out a versatile attack by both teams and the most spectacular game of the year here.

The fans hereabouts still bewailed the inclement weather which prevailed for the Pitt-W. & J. scoreless jamboree last Saturday. That game, fans declared, was most monotonous because of the "safe" tactics employed by both Pitt and the Presidents. Football followers concede that type of game was the wisest course, because of the slow, soggy gridiron saturated by two days of rain and snow.

But with good weather Saturday, the fans expect to see a wide open variety of plays by both elevens. The Cornhuskers, big and strong and fast, are said to have a diversified attack, consisting of a line plunge, an off-tackle thrust there, end runs, delayed bucks with always the possibility of a forward pass being thrown from most of the formations.

Clever Attack.

Very clever is the Cornhuskers' attack, according to the rumors, but on a dry field it is expected to meet an array of plays fully as mystifying and effective as their own. In previous games on dry fields this season, Pitt has demonstrated that it has the best forward passing combination since the inception of Sutherland as coach. With Booth, Fisher and Edwards reported to be rapidly rounding into good health again, the audience on Saturday will probably see Pitt's strongest lineup.

With the regular backfield intact, the coordination of the backs is expected to be much smoother. Edwards and Fisher have been trained all season to be Pop Warner-type quarterbacks; namely, one who leads a smashing interference, clearing the way for the ball carriers but seldom holding the pigskin. With both men out last Saturday, Pitt was admittedly handicapped because of the lack of rhythm in the backfield.

Whose "Wet Blanket?"

STEPHEN HAVRILLA

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Stephen "Jiggs" Havrilla, massive fullback on "Dyke" Beede's Westminster grid machine, who has been a "wet blanket" for many opposing backs who try to plunge through the Westminster line. At backing up the forward wall, Havrilla is perhaps without a peer in the district. Will he again throw the "wet blanket" on Thiel's line plunging tomorrow at Greenville?

East High Team Due Here Today

Erie Schoolboy Team Will Stop Off At Westminster For Practice

The Erie East high football squad, numbering some 30 men, including coaches, officials and managers, will arrive in New Castle sometime this afternoon and will quarter at the Leslie hotel.

The East high squad left the Lake City early this morning in a large motor bus and will stop at New Wilmington enroute to this city, where they will stage a short practice session. The rehearsal will probably be held at the Westminster field.

Coaches Anderson and Komora are confident that their team will be in shape for the battle here Saturday afternoon.

READY FOR SEASON

The bowling alleys at the Y. M. C. A. are now open, after having been resurfaced during the summer months. Paul Arow, one of the officials at the Y. M. C. A., states that they now can be used any time, and are in exellent condition.

Doubtless American Presidents at times see some virtue in the Mexican system of killing off the critics before election.

Notre Dame-Army Battle Takes On National Prominence In New York

Michigan-Navy Contest Has Intersectional Complex; Pitt-Nebraska Play

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Notre Dame, far from having forfeited its chance at a national championship—in spite of lamentations to that effect by professional pall bearers—just because it got itself tied by another good football team, will move within a single victory of that title tomorrow our out of the portrait altogether. It will meet the Army at the Yankee stadium in one of three big intersectional games scheduled for the morrow and, by victory or defeat, either will proceed onward and upward or downward and outward.

The remaining two intersectional meetings will introduce a ton or so of cornhuskers from Nebraska to an unbeaten Pittsburgh team and the Navy to Michigan at Ann Arbor, the latter contest being important only because of its intersectional complexion. Both have taken it on the jowl this year and, usually once they do that, the merry populace starts looking the other way.

For example, or far more significance from a national standpoint, is the Yale-Princeton game; the meeting way down South between Vanderbilt and the undefeated eleven from the University of Tennessee; the big ten run-in between Chicago and the front-running Illini or even the game at Bellefonte, Pa., between Penn State and New York University, the latter being an unbeaten team that has been dropped down with one of the real eastern leaders.

It would be difficult to convince a Princeton man that the Tiger didn't rate national honors if it beats Yale tomorrow, for such a victory would conclude Princeton's season without either defeat or tie. Almost equally difficult would be an attempt to convince either a Yale or Princeton man that tomorrow's game will not decide the eastern championship, since Yale has been defeated only by Georgia and, following that game, has beaten all comers with an impressive show of strength.

Yet, as I see it, neither team can claim a real national ranking until after tomorrow's returns are in and then only in the event that Notre Dame stops one with the profile. As I see it, the Irish must lose a game before they can lose the championship.

The Minnesota tie of last Saturday merely caused the Irish to lose caste; it didn't effect their title chances. The tie, as a matter of fact and for the sake of an argument, was as good as a victory as far as Minnesota is concerned, for the Irish can point to their 19 to 6 victory over Indiana and Minnesota's 14 to 14 tie with the same team as sufficient evidence of their superiority over the Gophers. The fact that it merely is "paper evidence" means nothing; all you need in these national sweepstakes is plenty of room and the right to argue.

Irish Favored

Anyhow, I am picking Notre Dame, tongue-lashed by Rockne into the proper frame of mind, to outscore the Army in a free-scoring game—provided the field is dry. In case of rain, it should narrow down to a fight in the forward lines and both of them are good. The Irish reserve strength probably is a trifle stronger, however.

The loss of Caldwell must hurt Yale and, as to that, my hunch was Princeton, Caldwell or no Caldwell. It is the only sane way to pick this one, as the lines are almost equal and backfield tactics and possibilities almost parallel.

Pittsburgh, whose attack bogged absolutely down against W. and J. last week, will meet its biggest and probably its strongest opponent of the year in Nebraska and must get its running and passing re-organized to have a chance. However, you can't pick one like this, since there is no comparison possible between teams separated by thousands of miles of territory.

W. and J. like Pitt, is still unbeaten and should have something of a "breather" in Bucknell, although I have a hunch that life is far from extinct in the latter. However, Minnesota surely gets a breather in Drake and so do the two coast leaders, Stanford and Southern California, who meet Santa Clara and Colorado respectively. I would like to say the same for Missouri but one never can tell about Iowa State or apparently about Missouri, either.

I wouldn't attempt to call the Navy-Michigan game nor that between Vandy and Tennessee. The latter is meeting its strongest opponent of the year, Vandy having been beaten only by Texas. In the latter district, by the way, those gifted Texas Aggies will play Rice and Southern Methodist will take on another live one in Baylor.

Unless Stagg has another surprise party lined up, such as he had for Grange in 1925, the Illini would seem to have all the class over Chicago and should win. As for Penn State and N. Y. U. the only thing I can say is that State is very hard to beat anywhere but particularly so on its own ball field.

ALLEGHENY TO MEET GENEVA

Methodists Hope To Make Good Showing Against Covenanters

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 11.—In spite of the reverses of the Allegheny College football team this season, the enthusiasm of the players continues. Last night's workout in preparation for Geneva was unusually good. While it is realized that there is little hope for victory, yet there is a determination to make a fine showing against the brilliant Geneva aggregation next Saturday.

Coach Merritt has been forced to use his fourth center in practice this week. Captain Bohrhorst was injured in the Pitt game and incapacitated for the remainder of the season. The following Monday his understudy, Younger, suffered a broken collar bone. In last Saturday's game Ronald McKay, who had been moved to center in the emergency, received a bad "charley horse" and may be unable to start the contest next Saturday. At the present time "Coote" Jackson is working out at the pivot position and is handling it well.

The people of Meadville talk of Flenniken, Geneva stellar halfback, in the way that followers of Pitt talk of "Gibby" Welsch. He is a great athlete, passing, running, kicking and plunging the line equally well. Working with him in the backfield are three other brilliant stars in Schachern, quarterback; Harris, fullback, and Pinkerton, halfback. Not only does Geneva have a great backfield combination, but her line compares well with the best in the country. Averaging 190 pounds, it has little trouble with the average opposing line.

Instead of becoming discouraged, the Allegheny team is working faithfully in the hope that they may be able to get some breaks in Saturday's contest that will enable them to cross up the dope and walk off with the laurels. The fight shown in the Thiel game last Saturday was pleasing to the local fans, although the team lost by a score of 2-0. Another large crowd will be on hand next Saturday to watch their favorites battle as the underdogs against their heavier and more powerful opponents.

Lest We Forget — By Feg Murray

Among the thousands of brave soldiers who gave up their lives for their country in the world war were many ambitious athletes who had previously shown their ability to fight on the football fields of their universities. Much has been written of Johnny Foe and Hobey Baker of Princeton—great athletes and fine soldiers both—but I wish to write about a man who, though he never made a name for himself as a football star, nevertheless played the game hard and fair at a little college and when the call came to take part in the biggest game of all, went to his death in the face of terrific odds with "gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond all call of duty" that won for him the supreme recognition from his government.

It is easy to make a parallel between football and war, especially in William Bradford Turner's case. He was slow, but forceful, unrelenting, and persistent in his attack on the gridiron, hammering away with all that was in him. So, too, four years later, in that terrible fight at Ronssoy, he hammered away at the Hindenburg line with incredible valor, and led an attack that took trench after trench from the enemy. A brave and lovable boy, Brad Turner. It was my privilege to know him well, and to admire and respect his quiet humor, his keen sense of what was right, his determination to succeed, and his appealing personality.

Brad's athletic training stood him in good stead in his courageous battle with the Germans on September 27, 1918, as may be seen in the following quotation from the government citation that accompanied his Congressional Medal of Honor: "With the utmost bravery he continued to lead his men over three lines of hostile trenches, cleaning up each one as they advanced, regardless of the fact that he had been wounded three times and killed several of the enemy in hand to hand encounters."

"Given a job to do, he would stick to it to the end."

Feg Murray Says—

As a good example of "minor sports," may I suggest certain swaggering boy-friends of the co-eds who bet as much as two dollars on a football game?

Penn State Freshmen Leave For Pittsburgh

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 11.—The Penn State freshman football team will leave here at noon today for Pittsburgh, where the Lion cubs will meet the Panther yearlings in the closing game of the schedule. The Penn State eleven has won three and lost two of five games to date and is anxious to wind up the season with a victory over Pitt. The 1927 team is the strongest freshman aggregation that State has put in the field in several years and has made a much better record in games won and lost than any team for the past five seasons.

Gardner Names Grid Officials

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High this morning announced that "Ted" Fry of Pitt would handle the New Castle-Erie East game Saturday in the capacity of referee and that Forbes of Geneva would be the umpire.

The selection of the head-linesman for the game has been held up by a mix-up in the dates, and the man who will handle the stick is not known.

The three influences that preserve the peace in the Balkans are England, France and the prevalence of crutches.

Lucky Gridder

Loretta Young isn't interested in all football players, but this halfback or something appealed to her, so she carries him with her here and there. He seems to like it. Loretta is a movie star.

Jack Hulme Has Used Mile Of Adhesive Tape On College Athletes

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Tape in front of it, tape to the right of it, tape to the left of it and tape behind it. Such would be the plight of the Westminster College football field if all the adhesive tape used by Trainer Jack Hulme in binding up the injuries of the 1927 Blue and White football and cross country squads was placed end to end and stretched around the gridiron.

It has been estimated that all this tape, if placed end to end, would reach from goal post to goal post 12 times and then back to the 50-yard line of the football field. Jack Hulme, varsity trainer, says that there has been about a mile of adhesive tape used which means that about 90 feet a day has been plastered on the sprained backs, legs, ankles, etc., of the Westminster athletes.

D. Pearson, Yale; Bill Patterson, Paul Griffiths, and Warren Broadbent.

William Connery was instrumental in the organization of this husky array of gridders. Any way it's going to be lots of fun watching these boys. The Old Timers will not be allowed to carry their canes and crutches on the playing field it is understood.

Attorney William E. Moffat is Head Coach of the Old Timers.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

What am I offered?

The gentleman at my left offers me two pitchers and an infielder.

Two pitchers and an infielder!

Going! Going! GONE!

The St. Louis Browns started the ball a rolling a few weeks ago by trading Milton Gaston to Washington.

George Sisler and Wallie Gerber, veteran infielders, are mentioned as trading material in deals still pending and involving the St. Louis Americans. Sisler's work at first was all that could be desired last season, but Phil Ball wants a new shuffle of the cards as far as his Brownies are concerned, and Dan Howley doesn't want to wade through another season with a team that hasn't once shown any ability to pull together.

Gerber is nearing the end of his playing days and Howley has Otis Miller ready to step into his shoes.

Across the road the St. Louis Cardinals are talking trades, it is said, in addition to discussing the managerial aspect of things. There has been talk for several weeks that John McGraw wants to get Lester Bell, infielder, and Flint Rhem, pitcher. That is one story. Another is that the boys want to rejoin their old boss, Rogers Hornsby, who is in line for the management of the Giants some fine day.

Of course, Kiki Cuyler, Pirate outfielder who had such set views regarding his place in the lineup and scheme of things, is on the block, bound, no one knows where. The names of Johnny Morrison, Johnny Gooch and Earl Smith, also Pirates, have been dragged into the winter trading bees as well. Of course Manager Bush isn't thinking of letting both Gooch and Smith go, but there is a strong probability of his using one of them to worm a good second baseman or pitcher out of some National league ball club.

Rumors come from Chicago that the Cubs would like to make one or two trades and that Percy Jones, southpaw, may be used for that purpose. Joe McCarthy would like to add more driving power to his club to prevent the wrecking of his pennant hopes again in the closing days of another race.

The Chicago White Sox are after at least one good infielder and a couple of pitchers. There is a good chance that Johnny Mostil, brilliant outfielder, may be used as bait. It is said he desires to change his berth since the unfortunate occurrence of last spring.

The Cleveland club, going into the hands of new owners, is due to present one or two new faces, including a new manager. While it is expected that the new pilot will be chosen from outside the present playing ranks of the major leagues, it is within the range of possibilities that the new bosses may put over a deal that will give them added playing strength and a young leader at the same time.

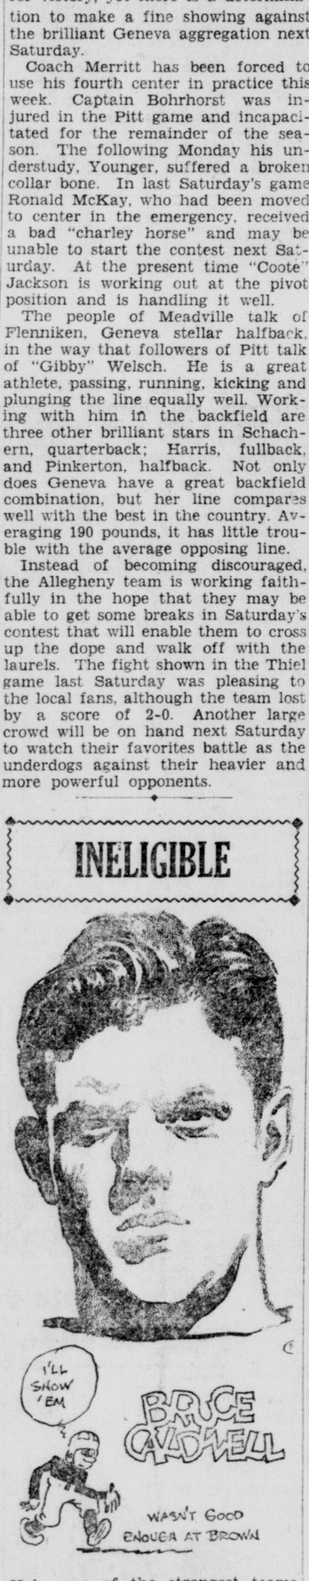
Connie Mack has dropped Zack Wheat and Ty Cobb and is searching for one or two young batters to take their places.

All in all, the winter looms promising from the stove league point of view. The only thing that takes the joy out of life for the fans is the fact that nothing that can be pulled this winter, short of dropping them out of the league, will prevent the Yankees from cleaning up again next season.

Picked First

A team of southern football players is being chosen to meet a picked team of California players in Los Angeles Christmas day. The elevens will be chosen and coached by six of the leading coaches of south and California. The south already has selected Fred Pickhard, captain of the University of Alabama eleven, to captain the southern team.

INELIGIBLE



Yale, one of the strongest teams in the east, and on the eve of the game with Princeton, in losing its star backfield ace, Bruce Caldwell, dropped quite a few notches in the football stocks.

Caldwell admitted he had played a few games as a Brown University freshman, but was unaware that it would make him ineligible at Yale. He wasn't considered such a wow at Brown, but at Yale he developed into a star, reaching the climax of his football career this fall with such an exhibition of all-around backfield work as to make him an outstanding candidate for All-American honors.

Marathon Swim Is Drawing To Close

With 16,489 "marathon miles" covered, the swimming contest being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. in their pool is rapidly drawing to a close. So far men have swam 7,879 laps, while the boys, in the lead, as usual, have covered 8,610 laps. In all, both men and boys have swam 187.3 actual miles in this contest.

Your starter will tell you

FROM the moment this remarkable new Atlantic Winter Medium goes into your crankcase, hard motor starting is ended. No need to wait for gasoline dilution to make this oil "easy starting." No need to change to light, thin oils with their poor lubricating qualities.

Atlantic Winter Medium (paraffine base) is the greatest discovery of the year in motor oil refining. It marks the conquering of hard starting in paraffine base oil—without loss of the unquestioned high lubricating and heat-resisting qualities of such oil. By an extra refining process Atlantic removes the waxes which thicken paraffine base oils when chilled.

Result: An oil that is astoundingly easy starting in coldest weather; yet virtually unvarying in "body" no matter how hot the motor may become.

Atlantic 600 Transmission Oil
—a companion for Atlantic Winter Medium

A lubricant for transmissions and differentials that is quite as remarkable as Atlantic Winter Medium is for motors. The extraordinary fluidity at zero of Atlantic 600 Transmission Oil, combined with its stability of "body," makes it an ideal lubricant at any weather temperature. Gears shift easily on coldest days.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—General Motors' response to the declaration of a $2.50 extra dividend on the new common stock, and a $5 annual basis for that stock, appeared in the form of a rise of 1½ points to 130¼ in the early trading today. The rush to take profits in the first period was so great, however, that the stock was forced down to 123¾ before the end of the first half hour, and many of the industrial speculative leaders followed the same course.

In observance of Armistice Day, business on the stock exchange and all the commodity markets was halted for two minutes. Even before the 11 o'clock period arrived there was a notable slackening of stock trading on the big board. Speculative interest was generally centered around a small number of the leading motor, steel, mercantile and manufacturing stocks, with coppers and oils reflecting, with higher prices, the recent improvements in thes important industries.

Steel manufacturers at Pittsburgh and Youngstown announced an increase of a dollar a ton for bars and shapes and plates, with the new minimum price $1.80 and $1.90 for small lots. The steel stocks were firm in this period, most of the independents following the lead of the Steel Corporation's common stock, which gained a point in the first hour. Announcement of the formation of new organization to promote copper sales stimulated buying of the attractive copper stocks, including American Smelting and Anaconda.

Business in the commodity markets was restricted by the closing of a number of prominent out-of-town exchanges, cotton was steady with narrow price changes. Grain at New York and Winnipeg firm. Local commodities quiet. Call money was also unchanged at 3½ per cent.
